Report Huron board to axe superintendent

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Cloak and dagger operations and the hiring of a "hatchet man" are behind a move by the Huron school board to get rid of him, Supt. Byron Antcliff said Monday.

He confirmed that he was asked Oct. 18 by Keith McMann, board treasurer, to resign. Again, on Oct. 21, about 4 p.m. in his office, Antcliff said McMann "told" him to quit.

"He (McMann) informed me that if I did not resign by Friday, Oct. 27, I would face specific action by the board of education," he explained.

At a special meeting called that same night, Oct. 21, the board approved the hiring of School Service Center of Kalamazoo to study the administrative staff.

A letter dated Oct. 25, 1978, from Mary McKinney, board secretary, to the Kalamazoo firm and addressed to Roger Kidston, president, stated: "As per our telephone conversation of October 23, 1978, the School Service Center has been retained by the Huron Board of Education to analyze our administrative staffing needs and make appropriate recommendations."

Antcliff, in commenting on the board's action to hire the firm, said, "He (Kidston) told a board member that he was recommending the hiring of a new superintendent."

Antcliff said a question from the floor at the Oct. 21 special session asked if the board had any plans to dump the superintendent. He said Leo Kyko, board president, answered that "no one had asked Mr. Antcliff to resign."

However, at the regular board session Oct. 24, Antcliff said he asked McMann if he had not asked him several days earlier to resign. "Mr. McMann said yes that he had asked me to resign," the superintendent said.

He said five, possibly six, of the seven board members would like to see him leave, but had never given any reasons for wanting his resignation.

"I've had problems with the board, but no one has brought out what's wrong," Antcliff said.

When he was interviewed by Kidston, who is an Antcliff supporter called a "hatchet man," he said that Kidston, who is a lawyer, told him he (Antcliff) would find out the reasons "later."

With the majority of the board not in his corner and their intent now out in the open, Antcliff hit back at the body whose predecessors had hired him as superintendent some 11 years ago.

He accused the board of "giving away funds" and "losing programs" because it "doesn't understand the educational funding process."

"The board has little regard for myself and my staff, either as people or as human beings," he charged.

Antcliff said staff members were driven to the point where they felt compelled to accept things as they were or resign.

Since the start of the 1978-79 school year, two key assistants to Antcliff have quit. Phil Dalley, assistant to the superintendent, and Ron Sniderman, director of basic skills, have quit. Informed sources reported both were unhappy with the board.

Also, the recent retirement of Lee Goodney, an assistant administrator in charge of maintenance, left the Huron school district without a supervisor in that area.

Since then, Antcliff has been hanging on, attempting to fill in for the three men.

In the last two weeks, the superintendent has asked the board for permission to hire an interim assistant. He has received no response from the board other than it was considering his request.

Ex-trustee lauds Huron school chief

A former member of the Huron school board has sprung to the defense of Supt. Byron Antcliff and has publicly criticized that body for its mistreatment of him.

Mrs. Jean Richert, who resigned last April after 11 years on the board, blasted her former colleagues for employing a "hatchet man" to get rid of the superintendent.

Mrs. Richert, who also taught one year in the Huron school system, questioned the board's hiring of Roger Kidston, president of School Service Center, Kalamazoo, to "analyze" the school district's administrative staff.

Saying that she was present at the board's special meeting Oct. 21, she claimed the board had previously discussed the matter. Further, she charged that until she demanded to know the name of the firm, no discussion was held on the firm's hiring.

"School Service Center is not even listed in the telephone directory," she declared. "After some investigation, I found that Mr. Kidston is associated with the law firm of Kidston and Peterson in Kalamazoo."

Mrs. Richert, who now operates the Apple Tree, a convalescent home for the elderly in Van Buren Township, accused the board of using some underhanded methods.

"On Wednesday, Nov. 8, when Mr. Kidston came to Huron Township to interview the superintendent and staff members, he instructed the board to not have four members present at one time.

"In that way, a quorum would never be present and the session could not be construed as a regular meeting and one that would be in violation of the Open Meetings Act," she said.

She said that every so often, a couple of board trustees would walk down the hall of the administration building so the number with Mr. Kidston would remain at less than four members.

She said that when she attempted to question Kidston, he criticized her for her action and instructed her to make an appointment if she desired to talk further with him.

"It was obvious to me that Mr. Kidston was out to get Mr. Antcliff," she commented.

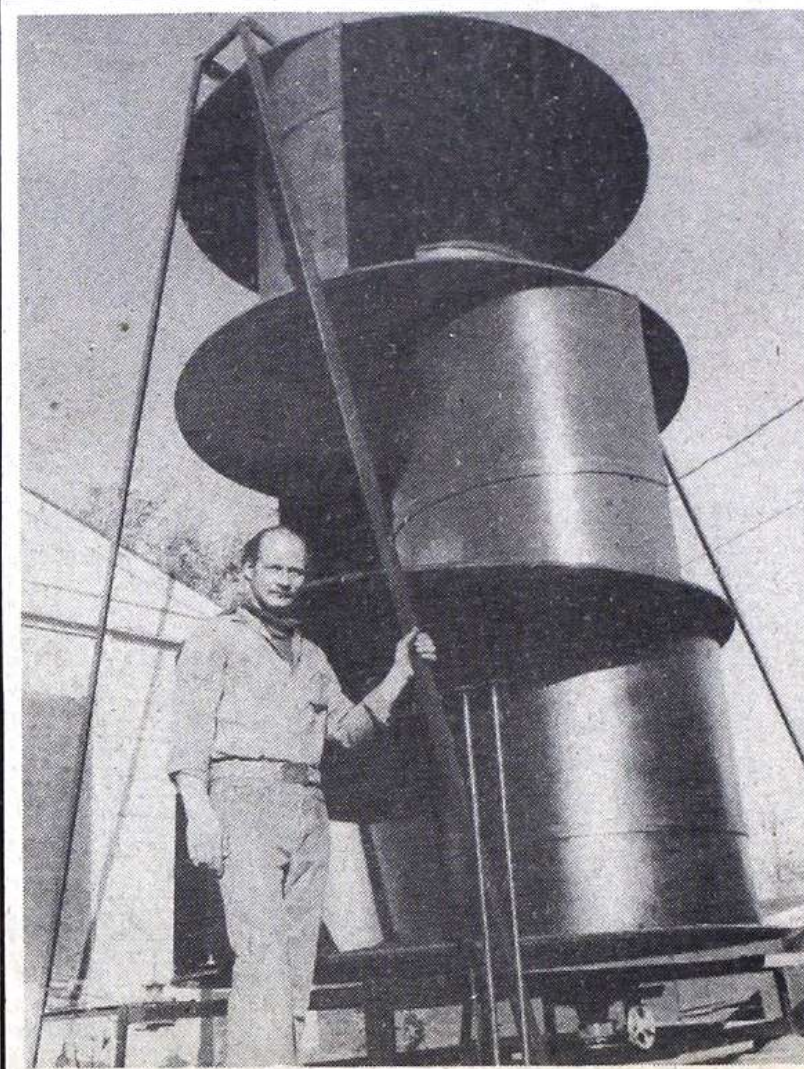

Mrs. Richert said she had been told by one board member that Kidston had told him that the board should fire the superintendent.

Her resignation from the board last April, she said, was prompted by its inability to function, its refusal to make decisions, and its lack of support for the administration.

"Some board members bad-mouthed the community so badly that it turned off the voters," she claimed.

She said the recent resignations of Phil Dalley, assistant to Antcliff, and Ron

Man, wife build wind generator

The strange looking hunk of sheet metal at left is a wind generator being built by Howard Keller and his wife, Wendy, in the driveway of their home at 30630 California in Romulus. With their project completion date a week to a month away, the Kellers have spent about $1,000 thus far, not counting their labor and some small parts. The Kellers got the idea from extensive reading of solar energy texts and combined it with some of their own theoretical thinking on the subject. Called an S-rotor, the generator when completed hopefully will generate about 3,000 watts in a 9-12 mile per hour wind and will be used by the Kellers primarily for heating purposes in a home in Prescott, Mich., about 170 miles north. The 15-foot generator is so constructed that it will catch a breeze and start turning on its vertical axis regardless of the wind direction, Keller said. He is employed at the Ford Motor Co. Wayne assembly plant in the multi-level unit. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

Backs citizens right to know

Mayor is sure information on high-rise is forthcoming

Mayor William M. Oakley Monday said that the city planning commission's public hearing that same night on the proposed senior citizens high-rise complex for Romulus should provide answers being sought by a group of concerned residents.

Citizens Against Exploitation (CAE) has for several weeks been pushing the city to provide more detailed information on the high-rise building.

The public hearing scheduled last Monday night was for the planning commission to consider preliminary site plan approval for North Cranbrook Associates, the high-rise developer, and to provide information to the audience, he said.

"Those who attend the Monday night public hearing will get all of the information contained in the preliminary site plan," the mayor emphasized.

He said Leo Sklar, the city's designated senior citizens housing agent, and also one of the developers of the project, or a company representative would be on hand to field questions.

The mayor said he wanted to clarify a misconception held by some members of the community, including members of CAE, for the second planning commission meeting on Nov. 20.

"At that time, the planning commission will either approve, reject, or table the high-rise matter. It does not have to just approve or reject the project," he explained.

The mayor said the same situation will take place the city council session on Nov. 27, approval, rejection, tabling, or some other course of action, should the planning commission have sent a favorable recommendation to council members.

Oakley said CAE members who are concerned that the Nov. 27 council session is the last word on the high-rise project are not correct in their assumption.

He said tabling or postponement of the high-rise complex could result from the future meetings of the planning commission and council. "I believe that our residents do have the right to expect information on the high-rise development or any others that may be proposed for Romulus."

"I am glad to see them take an interest in what is going on in their city," he concluded.

Walk raises $3,400 for needy children

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Walking can be very entertaining and helpful.

Especially when it comes to the yearly Walk-a-Thon co-sponsored by the Romulus Jaycees and members of the student council of Romulus High School.

It's entertaining for the teenage strollers and helpful to the underprivileged Romulus children who are given a Christmas party with the proceeds.

This year's results were the most productive ever as 134 walkers participated in the 5th Annual Walk-a-Thon Oct. 20 and raised $3,400.

The participants in the heel-and-toe effort covered 20 miles and rounded up backers to pledge so much money per mile.

The $3,400 raised will finance a Christmas Party in December for underprivileged children. Magdelene Jaira won first prize of a portable television set by turning in the most money — $194. The TV set was presented to her by Jaycee Andy Miller.

Romulus senior class raised $1,075 of the total collected. Ten students who each earned more than $100 were Robyn Bryson, Richard Geisler, Patty Jesko, Denise Gilbert, Diane Yandura, Leona Richmond, Jennifer Milton, Carrie Walters, Bernie Poet and Sheryl Marusak.

"We want to give a special thanks to everyone who donated for the Walk-a-Thon," said Project Chairman Fred Coleman. "We especially want to thank McDonald's and Romulus Hardware for helping with prizes for the students who walked."

"As much as anything, we want to thank all 134 walkers who participated in the Walk-a-Thon and made the Christmas party possible for the underprivileged children," Coleman concluded.

Goodfellows sale Dec. 2

The Romulus Goodfellows will hold its annual newspaper sale Saturday, Dec. 2, beginning at 10 a.m., with "newsboys" stationed at major city intersections and other strategic locations.

As in past years, John Wilhide, co-chairman said, Goodfellows will strive for the goal of seeing that no children in Romulus will be deprived of a happy Christmas.

Wilhide said, "We are trying to get more city officials and service clubs involved in our annual Goodfellows drive since this is a community project."

Chairman of this year's Goodfellow drive is Fred

Huron River Drive repaved

All of Huron River Drive in the City of Romulus, with the exception of the crossover at I-275 and the Five-Points intersection, are being repaved and having asphalt and gravel shoulders added. Photo shows work crews asphaltting west shoulder of Huron River Drive a few hundred feet south of the I-275 overpass. According to Larry Hahn, chief field engineer for the Cunningham

Gooding Co., Ypsilanti, the repaving will be completed in about another week. A three-foot asphalt shoulder and a three-foot gravel shoulder on each side of the much-traveled roadway will bring its total width to 36 feet, Hahn explained. Cost of the repaving of the 65-year-old roadway is $274,000, he said, adding that it was last repaved after World War II. (Photo by Jay Young.)

Republican is elected Huron supervisor

The first Republican supervisor in Huron Township since 1970 was elected last week by township voters as Roy Raker defeated George Moore, a Democrat and former supervisor, by more than a 3-2 margin.

Raker, a retired farmer and former trustee for eight years, tallied 1,617 votes to 1,009 for his opponent. Moore, who was appointed supervisor in 1971, was elected in 1972 and 1974, but was defeated for re-election in 1976.

In the race for township clerk Democrat Mary Lou Carey, former clerk, defeated her Republican opponent, Shirley Burgess, by the margin of 1,601 to 991.

Richard Sullivan, Democrat township treasurer, who was unopposed in his bid for a second term of office, tallied the highest votes of any candidate, recording 1,853. He was appointed to the treasurer's post in 1975 and won re-election in 1976.

The battle for the two trustee positions by three candidates saw Democrats John Puskar, outgoing supervisor, and Fred Ashby win over Republican Romayne Stoker.

Puskar received 1,433 votes and Ashby, 1,707, in their victory over Stoker with 1,237 votes. Ashby's total was the highest except for Sullivan, who as mentioned, was unopposed.

The two Democrat candidates for constable - Devere Willard and William Manny - ran unopposed and won office, recording 1,599 and 1,609 votes, respectively.

The Huron Board of Canvassers Thursday night certified the above vote totals as official.

Do you know rec trespass act?

(This is one in a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)

BY ATT. GEN. FRANK KELLEY

With hunting season already upon us, now is a good time for hunters and property owners alike to review the Recreational Trespass Act.

The most important provision of this law is the clause which prohibits hunting, fishing, operation of a snowmobile, off-road recreational vehicle or other motorized vehicle on someone else's property, without their written consent. That consent is necessary whether the land is fenced, enclosed or posted.

The only time consent is not necessary is if a hunter enters property for the sole purpose of retrieving his hunting dog. If a hunter loses his dog, he may enter property without prior permission, but he may not carry a gun and must leave promptly, if the owner or tenant asks him to.

If the hunter carries a firearm while retrieving his dog, a court must decide whether the hunter was merely getting his dog, or instead intended to hunt.

Hunters are subject to common law liability, which means they can be sued, if they cause any property damage. A hunter also is liable, under Michigan's criminal code, for trespassing, if he enters property without permission and refuses to leave when asked.

Violations of this act are punishable as misdemeanors.

Hunters are subject to common law liability...

Before you sign up for any new Interest/Checking Plan, read what NBD's UniBank now offers you.

On November 1, 1978, the Federal government allows banks to transfer money from savings accounts to checking accounts automatically with the customer's prior approval.

This allows two important customer benefits: You can earn interest on money in your savings account until it is automatically transferred to checking; or you can be protected against occasional checking account overdrafts.

It is important to understand that interest/checking plans are definitely not for everybody. If you're a customer who maintains a large average balance, then interest/checking may work to your advantage. If however, you keep a smaller balance, you may pay more for an interest/checking plan than with your present checking account. This is because check service charges could very well exceed the savings interest earned.

Find out what's right for you. Before you select any interest/checking plan, analyze and thoroughly understand your own situation.

Different customers have different needs. Recognizing this, NBD offers you a variety of ways to help you best utilize your available funds. Starting with—

UniBank—If you're a UniBank customer, you already know about its many advantages. And if you're not a UniBank customer, you should know that no other bank gives you so much for maintaining a $500 minimum balance in your saving account.

With UniBank, you get No-Charge Checking plus 5% annual interest on your savings (compounded continuously to push the yield up to 5.20%).

The UniBank Consolidated Statement gives you a record of all your savings and checking transactions—including a numerical listing of checks—in one monthly statement.

NBD's 24-Hour Banker gives you access to your money any time of day, 7 days a week at over 30 convenient locations. Extended hours and Saturday drive-in banking add to your banking convenience.

You may also apply for Master Charge and Visa Cards, two of the most widely accepted charge cards in the world.

In addition, NBD offers three options you can add to UniBank to give you even greater flexibility in managing your funds.

UniBank plus Checkmate—When you qualify for Checkmate, we establish a line of credit for you at the bank. Then, anytime you want to write yourself a loan, we automatically cover it by taking money out of your line of credit and putting it into your checking account. Best of all, you pay only simple interest on the outstanding loan and can repay it at any time.

UniBank plus Overdraft Protection—If you occasionally overdraw your checking account, our new Overdraft Protection feature allows you to use your UniBank Savings Account as a back-up.

Here's how it works:

Under this plan, overdrafts are paid up to the balance in your UniBank Savings Account by an automatic transfer to your UniBank Checking Account. There is a charge for each transfer. To qualify for the Overdraft Protection feature, you must have a minimum balance of $500 in UniBank EveryDay Interest savings at the time you open the account.

UniBank/Cash Management Account—With this plan, you can keep your funds in your savings account earning interest until they are needed in your checking account to cover checks. At that time, the necessary money is transferred automatically from savings to checking. This means you can now earn 5% annual interest (compounded continuously) in savings while maintaining a $0 balance in your checking account.

Whether a UniBank/Cash Management Account makes sense for you depends entirely on the number of checks you write and the average balance you maintain in your savings account.

Here's an example: With your UniBank/Cash Management Account, if you write 15 checks per month, your service charge will be $3.25. And if your average savings balance is $750 per month, you will earn $3.18 interest. So, you would just about break even.

Ideally, the interest you earn on your savings should exceed the service charges you incur on your checking account.

To find out more about UniBank, stop in at a nearby National Bank of Detroit office. Your NBD representative can tell you more about all of our UniBank services and help you decide which account best meets your needs.

Area communities can sue for refunds on drain tax levies

The city of Romulus and Van Buren and Huron Townships are among seven municipalities which the Michigan Court of Appeals last week ruled can now sue for refunds of special drain taxes which allegedly were collected illegally.

The suit was filed in Wayne County Circuit Court in 1976 by the three named communities and the cities of Riverview and Lincoln Park and the townships of Canton and Brownstown. It has not yet reached trial.

The suit charges that the county drain commissioner since 1955 has levied special assessments against the seven communities which were spent on administrative services rather than on cleaning and maintaining the drains.

Harry S. Ellman, attorney for the plaintiffs, said the Michigan Legislature has since enacted laws which prevent such collected taxes to be spent for administrative purposes.

Wayne Circuit Judge John R. Kirwan in pretrial proceedings ruled that $400,000 in special assessments collected in 1975 and 1976 from the seven communities be placed in escrow pending resolution of the lawsuit.

Also asked in the suit is that it be named a "class action" proceeding.

This action would make some 60,000 residents of the seven municipalities eligible for refunds on the assessments should the case be decided in the plaintiffs' favor.

Attorneys explained that no date has been scheduled for the trial before Judge Kirwan and that the case could take several years to come to trial because of expected further appeals.

Attorneys also said the Court of Appeals ruling last week questions the authority of the Michigan Tax Tribunal, which was created by the Michigan Legislature in 1974 to rule on cases involving disputed tax assessments and refunds.

However, the appellate court decision is expected to be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Richard Sullivan, treasurer for Huron Township, estimated that about $50,000 of the total $400,000 being held in escrow was paid by Huron taxpayers.

Attempts by the Enterprise and Roman to obtain figures for Romulus and Van Buren Township from the records department of the Wayne County Circuit Court were unsuccessful.

A clerk there said such information could not be given over the telephone, but would have to be gleaned from court records by someone in a personal visit.

Huron super asks again for assistant

For the second time, Supt. Byron Antcliff has asked the Huron school board for permission to hire an interim assistant to help him keep the school district operating on a sound financial basis.

Last week (Monday), the superintendent told the board that the Huron school district "cannot keep living on the legacies of Ron Sniderman and Phil Dalley".

Sniderman, who was director of basic skills, and Dalley, assistant to Antcliff, both recently resigned.

Antcliff said the two were responsible for bringing in some $600,000 in federal funds that kept CETA employees on the schools' payroll.

The board did not give Antcliff an answer and is taking his request under consideration. At the previous board session, trustees failed to give any response to his recommendation for an assistant.

"They left everything in good order," Antcliff explained. "What they left behind is what we are operating on now, but we can only do that so long."

He told the Roman it was vital that the school district obtain someone who can continue the functions formerly performed by Sniderman and Dalley.

"I want to emphasize that it was not my efforts, but theirs in obtaining funds to keep the school district going," the superintendent said.

Crime curbing plan meet slated today

An organizational meeting of "Neighborhood Watch", a comprehensive crime prevention program initiated for the southeast section of Romulus, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday (today) at Hale Creek Elementary School.

The program is a highly successful nationwide effort sponsored by the National Sheriff's Association.

Its purpose, according to the sponsors, is to "enhance neighborhood security, heighten the community's power of observation and encourage mutual assistance among neighbors."

The program centers around a series of instructional materials that stress the "3D's - deterrence, delay and detection."

The program also includes home security inspections, an article identification service, signs and decals and a crime prevention checklist and homeowner's booklet, discussed at regular training sessions.

Citizens in other areas of the city who would like to establish this program in their neighborhoods should call the Wayne County Sheriff at 942-9660 or Mayor William M. Oakley's office, 941-0666, extension 15 for further details.

Career center mates pupils with best job likes, skills

A career resource center is opening at Romulus Senior High School. The center will provide career guidance and vocational information for students, former students, and any citizen of the community.

The center opened daily Monday through Friday and Monday and Wednesday nights beginning June 8, 1978.

One of the big attractions of the career resource center will be the Michigan Occupational Information System (MOIS). The MOIS terminal is a computer data system with current career and job information for over 350 occupational areas. This system was jointly sponsored by the city and school system and should prove to be invaluable to our citizens.

The career resource center is a part of a program developed under a CETA TITLE III grant with the goal of providing the necessary skills a student needs to make the transition from school to the world of work.

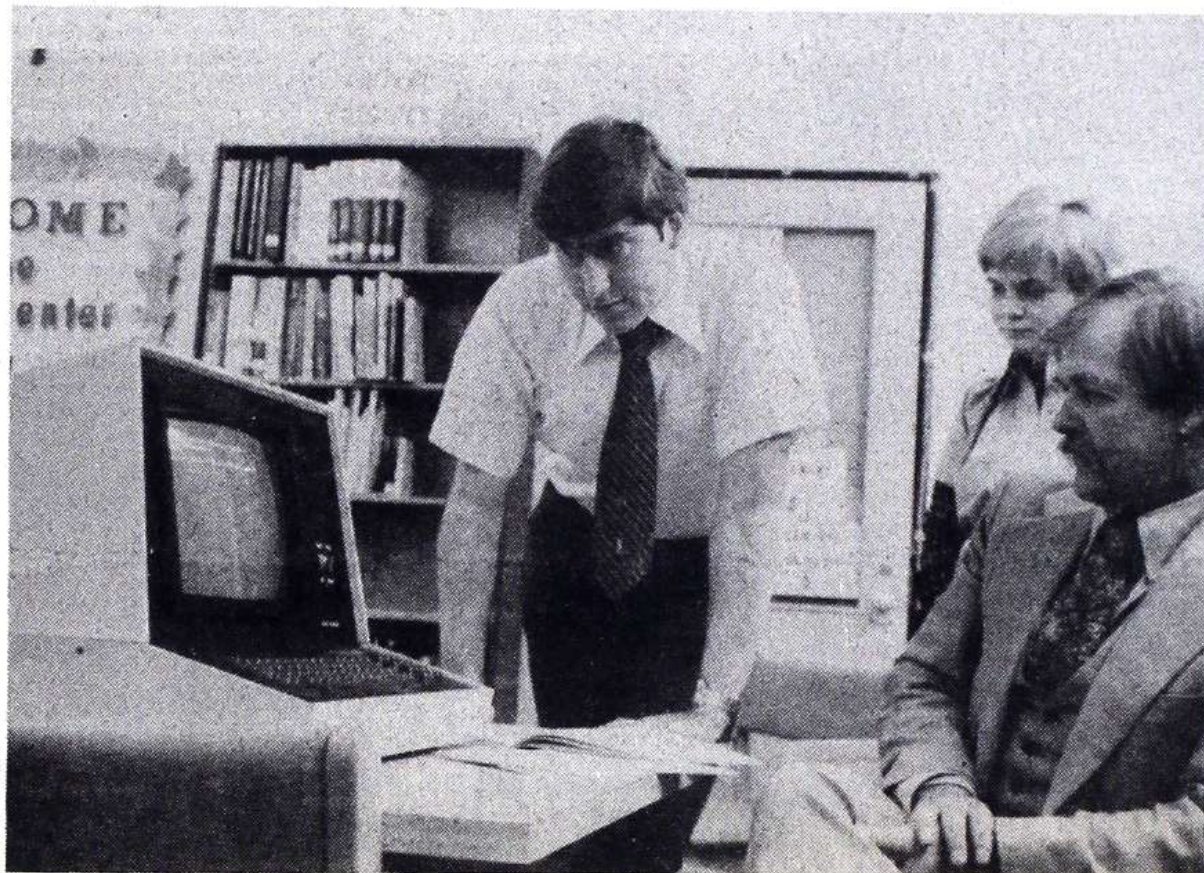

The students' initial contact will be with the vocational counselor who will help in the evaluation of needs and goals. This counselor will help determine the type of job a student is looking for along with the skills and training needed for that job.

The media specialist in the career resource center will assist the student with the use of the MOIS terminal and career information sources. Together they will search for careers that can develop from the students' interests and goals.

When the student is ready to go out and apply for a job, the job placement specialist will assist in writing a resume, filling out applications, and going over the techniques of a good interview.

The final step in this program is assistance in getting a job. The placement office will coordinate community job openings with job-ready people.

The career resource center is open to the community. All of the resources—books, pamphlets, college catalogs, film strips, and MOIS—will be available to interested citizens.

Computer qualifies mayor

The computer shown gives Romulus High School's career resource center an electronic method of matching talents and interests of applicants to specific job areas. Called the Michigan Occupational Information System (MOIS), the computer terminal became available to students and residents of the community at no charge Monday through Friday and Monday and Wednesday nights beginning last June. Al Wilkerson, vocational counselor, and Alice Fugidi, placement specialist, "run" Mayor William M. Oakley through the computer to see where his job interests lie. Results showed the mayor to be interested in people-centered outdoor activities. The mayor was a contractor prior to his election. (Photo by Jay Young.)

In brief

North band tops

The Romulus North Jr. High School symphonic band has compiled the best competitive record of any 7th and 8th grade junior high school band in the entire state of Michigan during the past two school years.

symphonic band qualified for the state band festival. The 78 member organization also received the coveted first division ratings at the state festival both years.

Director Richard Kruse reports that there are currently over 185 students enrolled in the North Jr. High band program.

Huron super is out

Sniderman, director of basic skills, was brought about by the "negative environment" created by the board.

Mrs. Richert also rapped the Huron school board for changing auditors recently after 22 years without discussion on the matter or investigating the new firm it eventually hired.

"To me, that indicated the board had held previous meetings," she said.

She had high praise for Antcliff who she said was primarily responsible for the high number of top flight school personnel with master degrees.

She ripped the school board for "losing federal funds" because trustees blocked or refused to make decisions.

She again lauded the superintendent for trying to perform the duties previously assigned to Dalley, Sniderman, and Lee Goodney, assistant administrator in charge of maintenance, who retired recently.

"Mr. Antcliff and the students are suffering from the board's attitude. I'm terrified that that the Huron district will go down the drain because of the personal feud going on between the board and the superintendent," she said.

Mrs. Richert said Antcliff had not taken part in the feud and that the board's actions represented a "vendetta" calculated to dump the superintendent.

"In my opinion, the majority of teachers in the Huron school system are unhappy," she asserted.

This feeling stemmed, she claimed, from trustees Keith McMann and Mary McKinney "selling out" the Huron Education Association after it had supported them for election to the board.

Also figuring in the teachers' unhappiness was the board's action to get rid of Antcliff and for being "totally ineffective" in performing its duties.

She said one, possibly two, board trustees still support Antcliff.

Smoke detectors for sale by city

The city of Romulus is offering area residents an opportunity to purchase top-quality smoke detectors and fire escape ladders below normal retail prices as part of a "Save-A-Life" fire prevention program sponsored by the Romulus Fire Department.

The battery-operated, ionization type detectors are manufactured by the Honeywell Corporation and have received high ratings from both Consumer Research and Underwriters Laboratories.

The escape ladders, also being offered for sale, come in 15-foot, two-story and 25-foot, three story sizes. The ladders sell for $11 and $15 respectively.

The smoke detectors will sell for $13.95, but a $5 rebate available from the company will bring the final purchase price down to only $8.95 to residents.

Mayor William M. Oakley stressed, in announcing the program, that this is not a money-making venture, but is offered by the city as a public service to increase incentive for residents to enhance the fire protection of their homes.

The "Save-A-Life" sale began on Aug. 1, 1978, at the Fire Station No. 4 located at 28777 Eureka Rd.

For further information, call the Fire Chief's office at 941-0666, extension 51.

Visitors to the dealership can admire the Omnis, Aspens, Magnums, Diplomats, St. Regis', Vans and pick-ups on display at 9700 Belleville Road, North, 1½ miles from I-94's Belleville exit.

The dealership also services all Chrysler products.

They sell it like they would like to buy it at Allen Discount Produce at 33706 Ford Road, and according to Mike and Betty Allen, proprietors, it has paid off with satisfied customers.

The produce store held its grand opening recently, and the continuing upgrading of its fresh stock is the aim of its owners.

The "all service" in the name of All Service Car Center at 7666 N. Wayne Road, means just what it says, according to manager Mike Flice.

The grand opening of the center was held recently, but persons interested in car service are welcome to drop by and check out the services offered.

It makes sense.

What Doctors of Chiropractic do, makes sense. They use their hands and a variety of practiced techniques to relieve the pressures that twisted vertebrae put on spinal nerves. The thought is, if you fix the spinal cord so it's not pinched... messages from the brain will flow unobstructed. When that happens, the brain communicates better with other parts of the body so every piece and part receives the messages they need to properly function. The result is improved health.

Canton voters narrowly reject farmland preservation proposal

Some are saying that even with the unofficial loss of 542 votes, the farmland preservation ballot issue was a success. Others think not...

The total vote tally, while still unofficial, was 5,074 votes against saving the western section's farming community, with 4,532 yes in favor.

On a percentage basis the issue polled a 47-percent yes vote to a 53-percent no vote.

While members of the farmland education committee, Bart Berg and Robert Padgett said, that with the apparent failure to gain a majority vote, the next step might as well be to start implementing a program to rezone the land for development.

"I think the farmers have been toyed with long enough," said Berg.

He said that he did not want to belabor the issue, and it was time to get off "dead center" and work on Canton's future.

But according to Robert Greenstein, former supervisor and innovator of the farmland preservation concept, rezoning the land for full development would be more like "killing" Canton's chances of having a future.

"I think that goes to prove that Padgett, Berg and Harold Stein (current supervisor) were not really friends of the farmland saving issue," Greenstein said. "It was Stein's way of washing it down the drain by putting it on this ballot."

Greenstein said that it would be "over my dead body" that the program would die. His hope is to seek alternatives out, one already being suggested is to lower the 4 mill price tag on saving farmlands.

"What bothers me the most is that people like Berg and Padgett are kicking the body before it is even cold," Greenstein said.

Greenstein, newly elected Trustee, said that he thought the new township board's first priority item would be to investigate the possibility of lowering the millage.

Had the farmland issue passed it would not only have united splintered factions — homeowners, farmers, business — but it would have given permanence to the farming activities in Canton's rural western half.

Farmers would have had their land investment compensated for by the millage, and in about eight years, according to statistics, the community would have been paying fewer taxes with the preservation program in effect than with full development.

Other candidates elected to office were more or less in agreement with Greenstein's stand.

Noel Culbert, newly elected supervisor, said that because the vote was so close, it really was a clear indication people were in favor of the program's concept, but not necessarily the attached price tag.

"A lower millage might make it more digestible," Culbert said.

Echoing his statements Carol

Bodenmiller, newly elected trustee, and James Donahue, newly elected Treasurer said that they were definitely in favor of pursuing the issue until it reaches a favorable outcome.

They agreed with Greenstein that the timing was ill.

"I can't help but think that if the issue hadn't been placed on a ballot full of tax-cut issues, it might have done better," Mrs. Bodenmiller said. "And I really believe that if Stein would have taken a stand in favor of it and pushed it, that he could have helped it pass."

But as it is, they said it was better that Stein took a neutral stand, rather than express his "true full development" sentiments.

In an atmosphere of "Tax Revolt," most could not deny that a 4 mill tax increase issue running nip-and-tuck was amazing.

Scouts honor workers

Awards for outstanding service to youth recently were presented to volunteer Scouting leaders at the Scouters' Recognition Dinner of the Huron District of the Boy Scouts of America.

The awards included the Silver Beaver, Award of Merit and the Special Commissioner's Award.

The Silver Beaver is the highest Award a Scouter can receive at the council level. It is turned by fellow Scouts who feel the recipient has done an outstanding job in helping youth.

Receiving the Silver Beaver was Joe Cusmano, who has been involved in Scouting for 11 years as a district commissioner, scoutmaster of Troop 735, training staff leader and activities chairman.

Cusmano also has received his wood badge beads.

The District Award of Merit is the highest award presented at the district level, and like the Silver Beaver, the recipient is nominated by fellow Scouts.

The district merit award went to four Scouters — Harold Buck, Howard Bauer, Jim Sanders and Janet McNeely.

Buck is on the training staff and is a former Webelo leader, Roundtable staff and participant in many camping trips.

Bauer, who has 12 years of Scouting experience, is scoutmaster of Troop 754.

Sanders has held many positions in Scouting. He has helped with the Sustaining Membership Enrollment and has been ADC for Pack and Troop 1739. He also received a plaque for outstanding service as a commissioner in the Huron District.

Lastly, Ms. McNeely has been on the Roundtable staff, has been a den leader and helped with workshops and the Pow Wow.

Guest speakers at the dinner included Joseph Syckoff, Scout executive of the Detroit Area Council, Burt Middlemis, council commissioner, and Harold Lundquist, council member at-large.

State OKs Ford Road widening

The $9.1 million Ford Road widening from Venoy Road to I-275 in Westland and Canton Township has been approved by the State Highway Commission.

The project is scheduled to begin in late 1980. The 3.8-mile stretch of Ford Road will be widened to five lanes. In addition, right-turn lanes will be included at all intersections, and six-foot wide pedestrian-bicyclist walkways will be installed on both sides of the highway. Curb and gutter and an enclosed storm water system are included in the highway construction plans.

An overpass will be constructed where Ford Road and the Chessie System railroad intersect, plus service roads at the overpass to provide access to commercial establishments at the location.

According to the State Highway Commission, the project will complete the widening and upgrading of the highway between I-275 just west of the Westland border and its eastern terminus at I-94, the Dearborn-Detroit border.

Traffic volumes on the road to be widened range from 49,000 vehicles on an average day at Venoy and Ford roads, to 19,500 at the I-275 interchange. Projected traffic on

Where's woman's place?

A woman's place in the world depends on where she is.

In Africa, according to the "World Book Encyclopedia," most women still live in tribal villages and devote their lives to child raising and household work. However, in Kenya, about 40 percent of the high school pupils are women, and some African women occupy important government positions, such as supreme court judge in Ghana and chief minister in the Congo.

Although almost half the women in Sweden work, they make up only about 11 percent of their country's lawyers, 19 percent of the physicians and 15 percent of the school teachers.

In Great Britain, only about six percent of the top positions are held by women.

Of depressed child

Childhood happiness myth thwarts treatment

The child weeps, has trouble sleeping, and avoids looking you in the eyes. He talks about dying, even considers ways of committing suicide.

The child is depressed, and he is only six years old.

"The myth of childhood being a necessarily happy, carefree period of life has prejudiced even some psychiatrists," said Elva O. Poznanski, M.D., University of Michigan professor of psychiatry. "The prospects of confronting a depressed child between the ages of 6 and 12 are so unpleasant that, like the battered child, it is easier to deny a potentially serious problem."

The U-M psychiatrist said prepubertal depression was not recognized as a diagnosable disorder by the psychiatric profession until as late as 1972. Although the existence of depression as a clinical entity before adolescence is still far from accepted, Dr. Poznanski said it is drawing increasing attention.

Part of the resistance is parental, part professional, she said.

"To get to the child who is depressed, one has to go through the family and the physician. Parents often feel guilty, not in agreement between themselves, and quite often depressed themselves," Dr. Poznanski said.

She added that often even doctors and nurses are frankly skeptical that the suspected depressed child is any more than momentarily sad. While not being critical, Dr. Poznanski pointed out the difficulty of diagnosing an authentically depressed child.

"Authorities are not agreed how long a mood should last before it is considered a serious psychiatric problem," Dr. Poznanski said. She pointed out that adult depression, while easier to diagnose, is a complex disorder that is not only extremely painful but also involves possible chemical imbalance.

According to Dr. Poznanski, adults are considered "probably depressed" by some psychiatrists if the low mood lasts two weeks. Other psychiatrists feel the mood should last at least a month before definitely being diagnosed as depression.

"Breakthroughs in diagnosing and treating adult depression are being made dramatically, but we are painfully slow in dealing with the problem at the adolescent and preadolescent level," she explained.

The psychiatrist and her associates at the U-M's Children's Psychiatric Hospital are among the first to study the problem and to contribute to a scientific understanding of it. They have developed a "Childhood Depression Rating Scale (ages 6-12)" as a diagnostic tool and have videotaped hospitalized youngsters who have been assumed only to be sad, but may in fact be seriously depressed.

Among the indicators of prepubertal depression is a seeming lack of capacity to have fun. Dr. Poznanski said the natural desires in children may be misdirected in the suspected depressed child.

For example, such a child may say, in the middle of winter, "I wish I could play baseball." He may even refuse to eat favorite foods after asking for them.

Depressed children generally do poorly in school.

"Not all poor achievers are depressed," Dr. Poznanski added. "But poor work goes with depression." They have difficulty concentrating and are not very talkative. Further, it seems to take them much longer to fall asleep at night.

"Usually we find that the child has a depressed parent, too, but we are not sure why."

"Watch for the child who appears to have headaches and stomach complaints. Watch the child who sits in the corner not bothering people. Watch the child who complains of being tired most of the time, and yet who has trouble sleeping," Dr. Poznanski concluded.

And the winner...

It was hard to pick the winners, but Sr. Joan, a fifth grade teacher at St. Anthony's School, Belleville, managed to narrow the field at the school's Cub Scout Pack Halloween party. Winning in the 7 years and under age group were Teresa Kosiba (from left) as a scarecrow, second place, Johnny Duff as an angel, third place, and Rob Priebe as a robot, first place. Also winning in the costume judging at the party were Marty Kaspeck, first, Paul Visirgdi, second, and Jerry Smith, third, in the 8-9 years category and Lee Hinkel, first, Richard Priebe, second, and Eric Hallstrom, third, in the 10 years and older category. The Cub Scouts and their families all dressed for the occasion.

'MOM' brings cheer to military personnel

First, take a young person in military service, probably away from home during the Christmas season for the first time; mix with some mail. Then add an idea conceived by concerned Americans, and you have a continuing campaign called "Military Overseas Mail", or MOM, — to serve our military personnel not only overseas, but stateside as well.

In the previous Christmas programs, thousands of pieces of mail, primarily Christmas cards with friendly letters and notes written inside, have been collected from the public.

This mail in turn has been distributed all across the United States and around the world to let our young military people know that we, as Americans, both as individuals and as the American public at large, do care about them.

If you have a friend or relative in military service, who would appreciate some extra mail at Christmas, send in the name and address, and MOM will see that some mail is sent to them.

This is an ideal Christmas project for individuals and families, as well as members of groups — student and church. For information on how you or your group may participate in this very worthwhile event, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Military Overseas Mail, Box 1797, Baltimore, MO. 21203.

The modern pieces consist of a large group of original woodcuts, etchings, lithographs, serigraphs and mezzotints created by such world renowned contemporaries as Saito, Azechi, Mori, Katsuda and Maki.

A representative will be present to answer questions

There will be a special exhibition and sale of original Oriental art in the lobby of Sill Hall on the campus of Eastern Michigan University on tomorrow and Friday.

The exhibit and sale will take place between 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. tomorrow and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday. Marson Ltd. of Baltimore, Md., specializes in exhibiting for sale a collection of original Oriental art totaling approximately 500 pieces from Japan, China, India, Tibet, Nepal and Thailand.

The oldest prints date back to the 18th and 19th century and include Chinese woodcuts, Indian miniature paintings and manuscripts and master works by such artists as Hiroshige, Kuniyoshi, and Kunisada.

U-M students review Westland's master plan for uses, revisions

The comprehensive revision of Westland's master plan, which maps out zoning for the entire community, is being undertaken by nine urban planning graduate students from the University of Michigan.

The City Council has contracted with the students, who are doing the project as part of a class. The cost will be $3,000, which covers only expenses.

If undertaken by a commercial consulting firm, the study could cost upwards of $30,000, said Dale Farland, Westland planning director.

What the students will do is study existing land uses in the city, look at the developed and undeveloped land and how it is used, then make recommendations and suggestions on zoning changes they see as advantageous to future development.

The general belief of planners is that planning is a continuous process, and therefore any "master plan" must be revised and updated about every five years, Mrs. Farland said.

Westland's first comprehensive plan was drafted in 1968, with the intent of establishing a direction for the future development of the city.

According to the students, who wrote a brief statement of their goals, "the 1960s was a period marked by rapid growth in housing, population, roadway expansion and commercial development."

"The 1970s, however, present planners with a different set of circumstances. Today many municipalities are faced with the prospect of decelerated growth and fiscal conservatism."

Westland has not reached the 150,000 plus population expected of it 10 years ago. In fact, the population has remained virtually the same as was recorded in the 1970 census, about 87,000 people.

What effect this will have on a revised master plan, only time will tell. That time schedule gives the students until April to come back with their suggestions. But, in the meantime, they will work with the planning commission and council and citizen groups in the study.

The bulk of Westland's undeveloped area is in the western part of the city, primarily the northwestern, although there are other spots not yet developed in other sections.

The remainder of the land is predominantly zoned residential, said Mrs. Farland, or is zoned industrial.

A master plan revision could result in drastic rezoning, or none at all.

In any event, the city is pleased to have snared the University of Michigan students for the project.

As Mrs. Farland talked about the study, she added that the city's zoning ordinance also is in need of updating, and is a project she would very much like to see done.

But such a job would require manpower that the city just doesn't have. In fact, she and Mary LaPorte comprise the total staff of planners right now. When Mrs. Farland was promoted from planner to Planning Director, no one was hired to fill her vacancy, and there is a hiring freeze on in the city at the moment.

'the 1960s was a period marked by rapid growth...'

Michigan Avenue paving narrows road to 2 lanes

Public safety officials in Wayne, Westland, Canton, Romulus and other neighboring communities are urged to be aware that Michigan Ave. in Inkster will be closed to one lane each way for the rest of this week.

The State Highway Department contractor, John Carlo Co. started paving last (Thursday) and traffic congestion is expected to be great as the major portion of the project begins.

Wally Arrowsmith, Interim City Manager, urged all motorists and other vehicles that usually use Michigan Ave. to find alternate routes while the cement is being poured the next seven or eight working days.

"We are notifying all emergency vehicle drivers in the area to avoid the traffic tie-ups that will come with only one lane open on eastbound and westbound Michigan Avenue," Arrowsmith said.

He pointed out that some ambulances, fire and police and rescue units often use Michigan Avenue and he wanted to forewarn them.

"Accidents will be avoided and lives possibly saved by emergency vehicles taking alternate roads," he said.

"We're also urging everyone who normally drives Michigan Avenue to work and home to take an alternate route during the pouring of cement."

To make matters even more complicated for motorists, Arrowsmith said contractor's cement supply trucks would be constantly moving to and from the batch plant at Henry Ruff Road and Michigan Ave.

Plans call for eastbound Michigan Ave. (south side) to be paved first. Pavers will move against the flow of traffic, from Guley Road working west to Henry Ruff Road.

The trucks will use the inside lane on westbound Michigan at Guley Road, circle and start pouring as they drive west against the east-bound traffic.

After the eastbound lane is poured the entire length of the city, they will pave the westbound lane, working against the flow of traffic each time.

As they work their way east (on the westbound side) they will complete the five major intersections as they go.

"We're hoping the weather will remain warm and dry so they can move as quickly as possible," Arrowsmith said. "And we hope an adequate supply of cement is on hand to keep the project moving right along."

Anyone wishing more information about the narrowing of Michigan Ave. to one lane during the two-week paving project can call Arrowsmith at Inkster City Hall, 565-4100.

Edison changes rates

Detroit Edison now has a new special rate for senior citizens.

Customers who are at least 65 years of age and are the heads of their households may realize savings on their electric bills by taking advantage of the new rate. Applications for the new rate are being mailed to seniors with upcoming bills.

The new rate provides savings ranging from $4.50 a month, or $52 a year, for the customer using 300 kilowatt-hours a month, to $1.50, or $18 a year, for the average customer using 500 kilowatt-hours a month.

Selection of the new rate is optional, however. Customers qualified for the senior citizen rate who use more than 548 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month, or more than 848 kilowatt-hours, if they have controlled electric water heating combined on their regular meters, would pay more, if they would pay more, if they selected the new senior citizen rate, so it would be more advantageous for them to continue on the regular residential rate.

Senior citizens who are on the residential space heating rate and consequently use more electricity during winter months also may benefit from the senior citizen rate, if their use of electricity falls below these limits from June through October.

"It appears that about 237,000 Detroit Edison residential customers may be eligible for the program because of age and head of household status, although not all would benefit from it," according to Robert H. Kelley, manager of Detroit Edison's Wayne Division. "Customers are being asked to bring their applications to the Detroit Edison customer offices because of the complexity of determining which rate would be most advantageous for them, and because once a customer selects the senior citizen rate, he or she will be committed to it for a year."

"We anticipate that about 60,000 customers (Continued on Page A-9)

Do you know insurance jargon?

Most owners of autos in this country carry automobile insurance of some sort. But how many understand what they have?

Who make better drivers?

Are women better drivers than men?

Whether your answer is yes or no, you can find some support in the preliminary results of the most comprehensive study ever done on Michigan's 6.3 million drivers.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin said the exhaustive traffic safety study will provide valuable insight into the relationship of accidents to driver age, sex, geographical location, driving convictions and driving record. Data for the study were obtained between 1974 and 1978 and the first of a series of reports of the study will be made available shortly.

That portion of the study comparing sex of drivers with accidents, violations and amount of driving shows that women hold 46.6 percent of all driver licenses and actually compile better driving records than males.

In a typical year:

- Ten percent of men are involved in accidents compared with only 6 percent of women.
- Men have 12 times the rate of convictions for drunk or impaired driving.
- Men, in any 2 year period, are penalized an average of more than twice as many traffic violation points as women.
- Men receive most of the suspension, revocations and warning letters for poor driving. In one year, 194,000 of 251,000 warning letters went to men and after re-examinations 21,100 of 22,800 suspensions and 5,150 of 5,300 revocations went to men.

On the male side of statistics, the study shows:

- Men do more than twice the driving, averaging 38 miles per day compared with 16 miles for women. Men drive 67 minutes in an average day, women 33. This trend continues as drivers grow older with women over 75 driving only five miles per day while their counterpart male drivers compile 11.
- The most active drivers are men between 35 and 44 years of age who average 47 miles per day. The most active women drivers are between 25 and 34 and average only 19 miles a day.

This study is part of a comprehensive effort by the Secretary of State to re-evaluate the present point system, improve the capability of the department to identify problem drivers and develop new programs to help curb accidents.

According to Austin, the study is one of the most comprehensive works ever done in the nation.

Where's woman's place?

In South America, most women accept traditional roles of housekeeping and raising families. But most Latin-American nations recognize the principle of equal pay for equal work, and most have women's bureaus connected with their departments of labor.

In Russia, women and men receive equal pay for equal work. About 75 percent of the nation's physicians, almost half its judges, a third of its engineers and lawyers, 70 percent of the teachers and 60 percent of the parliament are women, but few are on the Central Committee of the Communist Party.

In China, women make up more than half the textile industry labor force and from 30 to 40 percent of the farm and commune workers. Although two women have served on the Communist Party's 21-member Politburo, none sits on the Politburo's 5-member standing committee, which rules China.

In Japan, women make up about a third of the nation's work force, but more than 60 percent of this group work in family-owned businesses. Women earn an average of less than half as much pay as men.

In India, women have equal legal rights. Political parties encourage women to run for political office. More than 10 million women have professional or technical jobs, but most of them come from the top levels of Indian society. About 19 percent of all Indian women can read and write, compared with 40 percent of the men.

Hoover Mansion

Tour of Hoover Mansion benefits Mott Hospital

A vacant Ann Arbor mansion, briefly returned to the opulence of old, is having a one-month fling for charity.

Now open to the public, the 60-year-old Hoover Mansion, once the home of a millionaire, has been completely renovated by 22 different decorators and furniture firms to turn it into the "Harvest House of Interior Design" for the month of November.

All proceeds from admissions to the house will go toward expanding the intensive care unit for patients at the C.S. Mott Children's Hospital of the University of Michigan.

A French manor house on the exterior, the Hoover Mansion is located at 2015 Washtenaw in Ann Arbor and is reached by a winding circular drive which encloses nearly two acres of front lawn. Inside are 27 rooms, five baths and six fireplaces.

Nearly every corner of the building, from the powder rooms to the third-floor ballroom, has been done by a different decorator. Modern and traditional motifs are combined to simulate the building's appearance in its heyday.

The mansion is open for individual and group tours throughout November except for Thanksgiving Day. The hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday. Boutique and coffee and pastry shops also are in operation during tour hours. The project was originated and is sponsored by the Pediatric Women of Mott Hospital.

Constructed in 1918 for Leander J. Hoover, the building has served since as a residence, fraternity house and corporate offices. It originally cost about $350,000 to build and furnish.

Permission to use the mansion was given by Youth For Understanding, which recently vacated the building, and Domino's Pizza Inc., which is in the process of purchasing it for a corporate office.

Admissions to the Harvest House of Interior Design will cost $5 for adults, $3 for children and $2.50 for senior citizens. All fees are tax deductible. Other information and group rates are available by calling 995-5288.

After the design showcase is over, the mansion, like Cinderella after the ball, will lose its luxurious furnishings and sit vacant again, waiting for the nod to become home to the Domino chain.

Ford's middle-income ed bill get Congress's OK

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has won his long battle to make federal college aid programs available to middle-income Americans.

Ford's Middle Income Student Assistance Act was approved by the House and Senate in the closing hours of the 95th Congress, and is expected to be signed into law by President Carter.

The legislation adds $1.5 billion to the existing $3.7 billion federal budget for student aid programs, making some $5.2 billion available in the coming fiscal year. The bulk of the new money is earmarked for students from middle-income, working families.

"This bill represents the biggest infusion of college assistance money for middle class students since the passage of the original G.I. Bill or Rights at the end of World War II," Congressman Ford said. "For the first time, every American youngster will be eligible for some form of federal assistance to pay for college expenses."

Ford outlined some of the changes made by his legislation:

— Basic Educational Opportunity Grants have been open only to students from families with incomes under $16,000. This income ceiling will now be lifted to $26,000, making an estimated 1.5 million more students eligible. The grants range from $250 a year to $1,800 a year, depending on family income.

— Guaranteed Student Loans, with federally subsidized interest, will become available to any student, regardless of family income. The loans have been offered only to those with family incomes of under $25,000.

In addition to these two major programs, Ford's Middle Income

Student Assistance Act also increases federal funds for two other college-aid sources.

— Funding for Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants will be hiked from $130,000,000 to $340,000,000. This money is allocated directly to colleges and universities for distribution on a need basis to students.

— Funding for the College Work Study program will be boosted from $270,000,000 to $520,000,000. These funds are paid by the federal government to colleges to provide job opportunities for students to help pay their educational costs.

Travel TALK

FROM ADVENTURE TRAVEL SERVICE

SAM LORD'S CASTLE

Only 21 miles long and 14 miles wide, the green island of Barbados has more British color and charm than any other island of the Antilles. Barbados has beaches of pink and white coral, excellent hotels, great fishing and good shopping.

But it has two other distinctions: 1) It was NOT discovered by Columbus and, 2) Sam Lord's Castle, located on the cliffs on the windward side of the island.

Sam Lord was a "wrecker". By hanging lights on trees along the cliffs on dark nights, he was able to deceive pilots into believing they were approaching Bridgetown. When the ships ran aground on the murderous rocks, Sam and his slaves killed off any survivors and made off with the cargo. Sam Lord grew rich quickly, hired Italian arisans to build his castle, and furnished it with the finest of everything. Sam Lord's famous castle has now been converted into a popular hotel without losing any of its glamour.

From Circuit Court

Judge Seiler to battle county over caseload

Mired in a $15 million deficit, Wayne County and its court system want to get some relief at the expense of Wayne taxpayers.

The courts have reassigned some of its load to the 29th District Court and to Judge John Seiler, ordering Judge Seiler to handle some 200 cases that do not involve local residents and didn't initiate within the city.

Judge Seiler informed the City Judge Seiler has been asked to appear before Circuit Judge Richard D. Dunn on Monday, Nov. 13 to show cause why the court should not issue a writ of superintending control.

"I'm asking the city for legal counsel when I appear in the high court," said Judge Seiler. "Though I am capable of defending my actions, I would like the city attorney to join me."

Judge Seiler explained that Wayne County is presently in debt to the tune of $15 million and, and that the courts have a heavy backlog of cases.

"In order to resolve their problem, they have spread these civil suits to the suburbs and I have received about 200 cases.

Council that he sent one of the cases back to where it came from - to Judge Neal Fitzpatrick and because of his action he has received a writ of "superintending control" requiring Judge Seiler to comply with that order.

"However, these cases have nothing to do with the city of Wayne, or our residents, and didn't start here," said Judge Seiler. "These cases involve Detroiters, people from Grosse Pointe and other cities.

"The costs of a jury trial is approximately $400 and if you multiply that by 200 cases, you can see the kind of money it's going to cost us - and, even if we had the facilities to try these cases, which we don't, the county has told us we're going to have to handle these cases, paying for them ourselves.

"I can't buy that - that is why I have sent the case back and that is why I will appear before Judge Dunn."

Judge Seiler added, "that if Judge Dunn orders me to handle that load, then I will because if I don't the next step will be a writ of show cause why I'm not in contempt of court."

Judge Seiler cautioned the Council, "that the city does have a big stake in this and this is why I am appearing before you personally."

Councilman Nate Weisner asked if Judge Seiler shouldn't solicit the help of some of his colleagues in outlining communities who also are in the same situation and then quipped, "If they do get you for contempt, who'll take your place?"

Mayor Paul Lada questioned the legality of the county's action, then asked, "Is there a legal provision that you must handle them (the cases) in a certain number of days."

City Attorney Russ Schmidt explained that "legally, Judge Seiler must handle the cases because of a recent legislative act."

But Schmidt also pointed out "that there is a contradiction because the courts also have jurisdiction of cases that initiative within their city, or involving residents of that city."

Edison has seniors' rate

in our service area who qualify for the rate will be coming to our customer offices in November and December to apply for it," Kelley said. "Senior citizens applying for the plan must bring with them identification verifying their age and address."

The Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) requires that senior citizens who elect the optional new rate agree to permit Detroit Edison to install control equipment - if and when the company implements such equipment - to briefly interrupt the use of some appliances, such as central air conditioners, dishwashers and electric clothes dryers, during periods of high electricity demand.

Detroit Edison asked for a special senior citizen rate in its last rate case filed with the MPSC in July 1977.

Wheelchair basketball team finds home court

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

The nationally acclaimed Detroit Sparks wheelchair basketball team has found its first home court after 15 years of Detroit area play — and that court is at Westland's own Melvin G. Bailey Recreation Center.

Player-coach Bud Rumble, a resident of Wayne and veteran Sparks player, promises fast action like you've never seen before. Many of the team members, like Rumble, are quite experienced at the sport, and maneuver with speed and agility surprising to first-time spectators.

"If you've never seen a wheelchair basketball game, you'll be amazed," Rumble said. "I guarantee you, watch us play one time and you'll come back. We won't disappoint you."

Rumble, 41, has a long list of accomplishments in the sport. In 1966 he was named Most Outstanding Athlete, the award given to the top wheelchair player in the country. He's been on the All-American First Team 17 times. He's beginning his 20th year of play, his 10th as coach of the Sparks.

Years ago, when the Detroit team was formed, it had a home gym for a while, but lost it and "we've never been able to get a home gym back."

The Sparks would put on benefit games just to find a place to play. But the Sparks are not a novel team, are not an entertainment "donkey ball basketball team," Rumble emphasized. The athletic team competes in a national 130-team league, generally following National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) rules, with some regulations adapted to wheelchairs.

Team members for the Sparks are drawn from the greater Detroit area. Three veteran players — Rumble, Denver Brannum and Leon Sturtz — live in Wayne. As amateurs, they are unpaid. There is one woman on the team, Rumble said. This is her first year as a Spark.

The team competes in the National Wheelchair Basketball Association, divided into conferences. Championships are played at conference level, then regional, sectional and finals.

Westland's Detroit Sparks have been a champion team since they began playing in 1963. They won their first national title in 1967, and went on to win it four more times, the most recently during the 1976-77 season. Last season, the team won the league championship, and placed third in the country.

The team's statistics are impressive. They have made it to the national tournaments 10 of the 11 past years. They have had at least three and up to five of their members named to the first team All-American squad.

All the athletes must play in wheelchairs, although they may have varying degrees of disability and may not be confined to wheelchairs at all times.

The wheelchairs used by the athletes are specially designed and custom made to be lighter and more maneuverable. The sport wheelchair strips the chair to basics, with seat and back, foot rest and wheels.

Player-coach Rumble designs and builds sport wheelchairs that are worth an estimated $600. He has made the chairs for his 16 team members.

Westland city officials are especially excited about bringing the Sparks to Westland as their home court this season. They hope the team will develop an enthusiastic following.

Having the Sparks so close is expected to have a positive effect on the wheelchair basketball program in the Tri-City Therapeutic Recreation Program, run by Westland, Wayne and Garden City. Mike Mushett, program supervisor, explained that the tri-city basketball team meets on Saturday mornings, and are coached by a few of the Sparks. The Sparks also donated three sport wheelchairs to the program, Mushett said.

The Sparks travel through the country to compete with other teams in the conference. Although team members are not paid, the travel expenses are paid with funds from gate receipts and sale of the souvenir program and advertising in it.

Most games are held back to back on Saturdays and Sundays, as they will be this weekend. Saturday home games are at 8 p.m., and Sunday games at 1 p.m.

Home games are scheduled for Nov. 25 and 26, Jan. 6 and 7, Jan. 20 and 21, Feb. 3 and 4, and Feb. 17 and 18.

Tickets are $1.25 for adults, and 75 cents for children under 12 and senior citizens. Individuals in wheelchairs are admitted free.

The Bailey recreation center, which opened only recently, is located at 36651 Ford Road in Westland, behind city hall.

Wheelchair basketball is considered a great spectator sport, as well as a means for the handicapped to show themselves and others that "It's your ability, not your disability, that counts."

Up for grabs

It's anybody's ball now, and when it lands there'll be a scramble of wheels and arms to gain custody of that basketball. The athletes who compete in wheelchair basketball maneuver their specially designed sport wheelchairs with the agility developed through years of practice. Area residents will get the chance to see these exciting games this season, since the Detroit Sparks have chosen Westland's Bailey Recreation Center as their home court located at 36651 Ford Road, behind Westland City Hall.

IN THE ARMED FORCES

Two Belleville-Romulus residents recently participated with other American and allied troops in "Reforger '78", NATO's largest yearly exercise, held in Germany.

Participating were Spec. 4 Robert W. Lowe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob L. Lowe of the I-94 Service Drive, Belleville; and Pfc. Paul D. Bostain, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bostain of Barry Drive, Romulus.

"Reforger", which means Return of Forces to Germany, results from a 1967 agreement between the United States, United Kingdom and the Federal Republic of Germany that U.S. forces stateside return to Germany each year for exercises to demonstrate allied solidarity.

The entire exercise emphasizes the orderly disposition of forces and stresses deployment procedures and techniques.

Lowe, a clerk with the 549th Engineer Battalion in Schwetzingen, Germany, entered the Army in June 1976.

Bostain, a forklift operator with the 608th Ordnance Company at Fort Benning, Ga., entered the Army in August 1977. He is a 1977 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Also in the armed forces:

Marine Pvt. Jennifer J. Morris, the daughter of Walter A. and Mary B. Morris of South Stoney Creek Road, Carleton, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S.C.

The airman, who recently completed basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of this training earned him individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Choate is a 1977 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Navy Fire Control Tech. S.C. James S. Heemskerck, whose wife, Susan, is the daughter of Arthur and Bertha Gladding of Inkster Road, Romulus, was promoted to his present rank and is currently on an extended deployment in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is assigned to the destroyer USS Forrest Sherman, homeported in Charleston, S.C., and operating as a unit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

During the cruise, his ship participated in the major exercise "National Week XXV" in the Mediterranean. During the remainder of the deployment, the Forrest Sherman is scheduled to participate in various training exercises with other Sixth Fleet units and those of allied nations. Port visits are scheduled in several Mediterranean coastal cities.

Heemskerck joined the Navy in October 1974.

Airman James T. Coats, the son of Mrs. Martha E. Coats of 29624 Spring Arbor Drive, Inkster, has been assigned to Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho, for duty in the U.S. Air Force civil engineering structural-pavement field.

NEWS OF SAFETY

Tips For Push Mowers
If you've ever used a non-power mower, you can better appreciate the virtues of one that practically does your mowing for you. Here are some tips from the experts at the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute for pushing your mower in the direction of safety.

1. Know what you're doing. Even an old hand can use a refresher course from his owner's manual when mowing season starts.
2. Dress for the occasion. Big bell bottoms are out—so are sandals. Snug-fitting pants and heavy duty shoes are best.
3. Make sure no one is in your path or in the mowing area—keep alert, especially when backing up.
4. Never cut grass when it's wet. It may clog up blades and discharge chute—or cause you to slip.
5. With a walk-behind mower cut in one direction—across slopes, never up and down.
6. Mowers aren't meant to be pulled, tilted or lifted when they're running—they could overturn.
7. Stop the engine before clearing the discharge chute or removing the grass catcher bag.

These tips and a bit of common sense will give you a lawn (and a safety record) to be proud of.

KNOCKS AND PINGS.

Two horribly annoying reasons to introduce Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline.

A car should be seen and not heard. That's why we're introducing new Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline with a higher octane level.

Not only does it help knock the knocks and pings out of your engine, it could also give your car more power than most other gasolines. (In fact, millions of cars on the road today are being cheated of peak engine performance.)

And what's more, if your car is properly tuned, and still shakes, sputters and backfires after you turn the key off, using Mobil Super Unleaded may help eliminate all that. And that's whether your car is new or old.

And even if you've been using leaded premium gasoline you'll be glad to know that Mobil Super Unleaded's high octane level is high enough to meet anti-knock requirements of most cars today.

Mobil Super Unleaded. Because when you're driving, one of the nicest sounds in the world is the sound of absolutely nothing.

Special skills, good maintenance will get your car through winter

Winter is just around the corner. It's a time that demands special driving skills and a vehicle that is properly maintained and equipped for sub-zero driving and survival in an emergency.

That's the word from the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Controlling a car on icy pavement can be a problem. If a car skids, turn the front wheels in the direction the rear wheels are headed. Slowly straighten the front wheels as the car corrects. When roads are slippery, do not downshift or suddenly decelerate. To stop on ice, pump the brake pedal lightly and rapidly.

Auto Club Emergency Road Service Manager Robert M. Smith added that home-made "survival kit" should be in every car trunk. It should cost $60, or less, to assemble and contain a coffee can to radiate warmth from a lighted candle inside, newspapers for insulation when placed next to the skin under clothing and carpet strips for traction under drive wheels.

Other suggested survival items are a blanket, shovel, flashlight, jumper cables, tire chains, boots, flares, reflectors, tools, first aid kit, sand, a scraper-brush and food.

Smith noted: "Motorists who follow maintenance recommendations outlined in car owner's manuals can expect summer starts all winter taking any other steps." For motorists who have not followed maintenance procedures outlined in the owner's manual, Auto Club suggests this pre-winter program:

—Check the vehicle's fuel tank, fuel line, fuel pump, fuel filter, automatic choke and carburetor.

—Check the battery and replace it, if necessary. Make sure it is fully charged, with fluid covering the plates. Terminals must be tight and corrosion-free.

—Check the fan and other belts and replace them if worn. A slipping belt can result in an undercharged battery.

—Replace spark plugs, points and condenser if needed. Inspect the radiator, heater hoses and clamps for leaks. Check antifreeze strength and levels. Effectiveness is reduced if water is added.

—Check and adjust or replace windshield wiper blades. Regularly add solvent to the windshield washer reservoir to prevent freezing.

Auto Club also offers these suggestions to help guarantee winter starts:

—Keep the car in a garage, or at least park the car with the hood against or near a building to keep it free of the wind. On very cold nights, place a blanket or tarpaulin over the hood, or place a lighted electric bulb under the hood.

—Before starting, be sure the transmission is in park with all accessories off so there is no extra strain on the battery. Push the gas pedal to the floor and let up slowly to set the automatic choke. The accelerator should not be pumped since that floods the engine. Engage the starter for 10 seconds. If you flood the engine, depress the gas pedal to the floor, hold and engage the starter. The accelerator should be kept down until the engine starts.

—Keep the gas tank full to avoid fuel line freezing.

State approves Ford Road work

those locations ranges from $2,700 to $8,800, according to the state highway department.

Public hearings on the proposed road widening plans were held in Westland last spring. There was the possibility that the road would become a seven-lane boulevard, but that was rejected. It was decided by state planners that the seven-lane proposal would cause unnecessary disruption of business in the area and cost about $1.8 million more.

The road widening has been long awaited and welcomed by Westland officials and residents, who experience the daily clogging of the two-lane Ford Road.

The State Highway Commission still must obtain approval of an environmental impact statement, submitted to the Federal Highway Administration.

CORC conducts student workshop

Romulus Senior High School Career Opportunity Resource Center (CORC) has been conducting workshops for juniors and seniors who plan to take the PSAT and SAT college entrance exams.

A workshop was held for 104 students in the junior class who signed up to take the PSAT on Oct. 24. The students were divided into three groups. Sample sections of the test were distributed and explained to the students by Mr. Wilkerson and Mrs. Fleming, C.O.R.C.; Mrs. Scott, English; Mr. Bailey, Math; and Mrs. Jackson, Guidance. The four faculty members rotated to each group to discuss a specific section of the test. Student response to the workshop was very positive.

A second workshop is being planned by C.O.R.C. for all seniors who will be taking the S.A.T. being given in December and January. Several sessions will be scheduled for this workshop so the students will be even better prepared to take the S.A.T.

Also, twenty selected seniors have been attending weekly S.A.T. workshops being conducted by Mrs. Fleming, Reading Specialist, in conjunction with the Career Reading Improvement program.

Editorial opinions

Election identifies the real winners: Michigan's voters

Since we at Associated Newspapers are avid newspaper Editorial Opinion readers, it is appropriate for us to comment on an editorial in one of the major metro papers. We could not have said it better ourselves.

The subject for the editorial was the intellect of Michigan's voters and their collective good judgment.

The other editorial stated that the real winners of last week's election were the voters of Michigan. Through their ballots, they were able to demonstrate that party line voting does not appeal to them. In fact, Michigan may well rank at the top of any list of states whose electorate exercise independent judgment on important issues.

While our republican governor easily won reelection to office, our incumbent republican U.S. Senator was defeated.

While big labor muscle was intent on scuttling all tax reform proposals on the ballot, Michigan's voters selectively approved one of the measures while defeating two others.

In the face of a $700,000 media blitz financed by the Michigan Education Association (MEA) aimed at frightening and misinforming, Michigan's voters calmly and wisely chose to follow a moderate course.

It is indeed true that Michigan voters were the big winners in the recent election. It's interesting, that with passage of the Headlee Tax Limitation proposal, those prophets who predicted certain disaster if tax reform were approved, now say they can live with it.

That we suppose could be termed dedication to principle, the principle of dealing with political reality, but it does not speak well of political morality.

Senior's hi-rise raises questions: Answers are due

Over the past few weeks, the Roman has been criticized for its coverage of the developing story on the senior's high-rise complex to be located at Bibbins and Shook streets.

A vocal group in the city has been attempting to gain information about the project, but has met with little success.

The group, Citizens Against Exploitation (CAE), claims that the project is being pursued by the developer, with city cooperation, and that too little information has been provided.

While we are convinced that the city has made a reasonable attempt to provide the information sought by the group, it should be obvious to anyone listening that CAE does not agree.

Chief among the complaints coming from CAE are that the developer has not provided detailed plans of the proposed project. And the lack of plans makes evaluating the project's impact on the community extremely difficult if not impossible, the group contends.

It seems to us that it is time for the developer and the city to provide those detailed plans for the project prior to further action.

Will the complex contain an eight-story high-rise or a 12-story high-rise? What impact will the project have on the city's water and sewer system? Will rezoning the property prior to complete site plan presentation create a potential problem for the community?

Some very basic questions which citizens have every right to ask, and their elected officials are obligated to answer.

It would not only be unwise for the Romulus Planning Commission to consider the project without detailed site plans, but it would be very poor judgment.

The very reason site plans are required prior to developing a project is to prevent any misunderstandings between the city and the developers. Once the project is underway, it matters little to the courts to hear a community claim that it was misled.

In addition to the detailed plan, the city officials should require the developer to provide a deed to the property in question.

Should the developer proceed with the project, only later to discover that the property is not available, the rezoning would allow them to build almost anything, so long as it conforms to the zoning.

We would also suggest that Romulus' seniors accept the arguments about the site as just a part of the democratic process, and not as a direct assault on themselves.

It is in everyone's best interest to encourage developments such as the one proposed. But it is also in everyone's best interest to only proceed on the basis of the best available information.

From your lawmakers

Recent legislation explained

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

Aid to choking victims, sheriff's road patrols, health care benefits for the elderly and a better State Construction Code are covered by bills approved by the Legislature in September and signed into law in October. One of the laws gives restaurant owners and employees protection against civil lawsuits if they attempt to aid a customer who is choking because of food lodged in the throat.

The immunity would apply if the restaurant owner or employee is acting in good faith and is not grossly negligent.

The use of a proper technique for aiding a person who is choking can cause some injury to the victim because of the force which may be needed to dislodge whatever is causing the choking. Although a person who goes to the aid of a choking victim is generally protected by the "Good Samaritan" law from being sued if the victim is hurt in the process of being saved, this immunity had not previously applied to restaurant owners and employees.

There have been cases of ungrateful choking victims who have sued restaurants, which has prompted some insurance companies to advise restaurant owners to call for an ambulance rather than give direct aid to victims in their establishments.

Since persons who are choking can expire rapidly, this policy could prove fatal.

The new law gives restaurant owners and their employees the same immunity from civil liability as the general public when trying to aid choking victims. With this immunity, restaurant workers can safely act quickly and effectively to save a choking victim without the fear of being sued.

Another measure newly signed into law provides state funds for increased traffic safety programs for counties, mainly in more sheriff's patrols on county roads.

The 8.7 million in state funds is to be used to increase patrols, improve coordination between law enforcement agencies and to improve training and communications systems.

The legislation is a compromise version of an earlier bill vetoed by the Governor. The new version gives the boards of county commissioners more control over the grants, rather than giving it directly to sheriff's departments. The county commissioners will have to approve any spending plans drafted by sheriff's departments.

It gives county sheriffs the responsibility for providing patrols and related law enforcement on or near secondary roads, and on state highways in cities, if cities want the county assistance. The new law also guarantees no reduction in funding for the State Police.

Editor's Log

'A penchant for shock treating the public'

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

Is anything really safe?

That question is being asked with more frequency as we are bombarded almost daily with new announcements concerning the latest threats to our health.

In the beginning, it was cranberries improperly processed which drew the attention of the sleuths searching out carcinogenic substances threatening mankind.

Following soon, were announcements that bacon, diet pop, hair dye, food color, meat tenderizer, tobacco, pesticides, nuclear power plants, air, water, and living caused cancer. A tough act to follow, but government and environmentalists were up to the task.

Now, even though none of us should care since we are all dying anyway, comes the announcement regarding PBB, PCP, and others.

Just about the time funeral directors across the U.S. were packing up their hearses for the trip to Michigan to clean up on the anticipated boom, came the announcement that maybe PBB wasn't too bad after all.

Well whether PBB is poison or actually good for you, it is just a little late to replay all those decisions which have led to this point in time.

Since it is impossible to undo the effects of living for the past 20, 30, or 50-years, maybe we should shift our attention to preventative measures.

If, as it has been said, we are all destined to perish as the result of past mistakes, we should hurry, hurry, to find out what killed us so we can at least eliminate the threat to the younger generations.

It is time to unclench our wrung hands and gnashed teeth.

It is time to insist on the beginning of a new philosophy for dealing with progress and technology.

From this point on we must insist that profit and expediency take a back seat to the health and welfare of the public. We must insist that technology work for us and not against us. What good are those beautiful new vinyl auto seats if they kill us in production and in operation.

While I am certainly reluctant at best to bet my life on the fact that most recently announced dangers to public health have been overstated, I do believe many have been.

Of late, our scientists seem to have developed a penchant for 'shock treating' the public.

Considering that those scientists are fighting tooth and nail to 'nail down' new government grants for the research of humanity's problems, it is no surprise that they may on occasion choose a course of action which guarantees the most media attention. Thereby giving them an edge in the bidding for research dollars.

Along with our experts overselling, we have environmentalists overkilling.

From the now infamous 'snaildarter', to the damaged ozone layer, we find each side of almost every disputed fact, overstating, overreacting and overkilling.

So along with our return to an emphasis on preventative practices, we need a return to rational voices. Voices less concerned with selling and more concerned with informing.

Maybe it will be proven true that even though the average life expectancy of Americans is climbing yearly, that life expectancy could have been even longer without the negative effects of technological developments.

Maybe that's true. But certainly we will never know for sure.

But, as the man said...

If cancer kills 25 percent of the population and heart disease kills 35 percent of the population and drinking, smoking and carousing kills 25 percent of the population, what kills the rest?

I think that when the final chapter is written on the subject of man's search for immortality, a brilliant scientist will conclude someday that it is life itself that is conducive to death, and to accept life is to accept life's associated risks, death being the surest and most final.

About the hi-rise

Editor:

In answer to the articles by Bob Ameen, ANP writer, he is printing one sided information.

The C.A.E. representatives claim that they are not against the Sr. Citizen High Rise, but then in the next breath they want to know why at the proposed site.

The Seniors don't want another low cost housing such as Oakbrook. At Oakbrook, the living room and kitchen are downstairs; bedroom and bath upstairs. If you have a disability, it is a chore to get up the stairs to the bathroom.

Do Mrs. Burek and her fellow C.A.E.s realize that schools are tax free? The high rise would be taxable. She says that the streets would have to be widened and that their sewer and water bills, property taxes, etc. would go up. Tell me how would her sewer and water go up because of the proposed high rise. Each resident pays for what they use, not their neighbor's usage.

I've attended the council meetings and public hearings. Questions are answered. Repeatedly, however, C.A.E.s keep asking the same questions. One of the new questions is why 225 units and not 150. There are more than 150 people signed up for the high rise at this time.

I've talked to several people about the proposed high rise and they are all for it. They say the proposed site is ideal. Also that it's about time we were getting a high rise for the Seniors. Other cities have two or more. We only want one.

Very seldom will you ever hear Senior Citizens complain about taxes. They realize that the taxes will benefit the majority of the citizens. Let's now make an improvement that will benefit the Seniors.

At the meetings I've attended, many negative comments have been directed at our Mayor and Council members. I resent this very much. I've as yet to see your reporter or writer at a council meeting or public hearing. Where does he get his information from? He has never approached any Sr. Citizens for their version of the story.

Political coverage hit

EDITOR:

I am writing in regard to the article, "Dems Back Write Ins", which appeared in the October 25 issue of the Belleville Enterprise. The article in question maintains that write-in candidates Kelly and DiDia have been supported by the Van Buren-Belleville Democratic Club.

This report is entirely incorrect. At the September meeting of the Democratic Club, the Club voted unanimously to endorse those candidates who were nominated in the primary election and at the State Convention of the Party. Such candidates include Doreen Craven and Dorothy York, the incumbent clerk and treasurer respectively of Van Buren Township.

At the more recent October meeting of the Club the membership voted to reaffirm their endorsement of and urge the support of those candidates who were nominated in the primary.

The Executive Board of the Club was also instructed by a vote of the membership to inform the Belleville Enterprise of such endorsements.

With regard to the write-in candidates, Kelly and DiDia. The Club did not vote to support them in the election as indicated in the article, but rather only acknowledged Kelly and DiDia as active members of the Democratic Club who are running as write-in candidates. No form of support on the part of the Club was included in that motion which narrowly passed with a 22-20 vote.

Because the article which appeared in a black box on page 3 of the Enterprise is a gross misrepresentation of the facts, I believe a retraction of that story is warranted in the November 1 issue.

A retraction must be printed this upcoming issue of the paper so that voters may be informed of the truth — that the Van Buren-Belleville Democratic Club is supporting the candidates who were nominated in the primary and at the state convention, including Doreen Craven and Dorothy York, and that the story which appeared so prominently in the October 25 Enterprise was inaccurate.

Marguerite Greathouse

Dedication helpers thanked

EDITOR:

On behalf of Mayor William M. Oakley and 34th District Court Judges Stone and Zaborowski, I would like to publicly express my appreciation to the organizations and volunteers who gave of their time last Sunday to make the grand opening of the 34th District Court a success.

This includes the Romulus chapter of the Business and Professional Women, the Romulus Senior High School Marching Band, the Hilton Inn, Archie Dawson and VFW Post 9568 for the United States flag to fly over the new court, Arbor Press, the CAP drill team color guard and Court Administrator Charles Walls and his staff.

The opening, witnessed by over 400 people, has been long-anticipated by area residents, and thanks to the contributions of these people, the experience was made even more memorable.

Bottle deposit questions

EDITOR:

Having been in business when 90 percent of the bottle business was in returnable bottles, I would like to know where this so called unclaimed deposit money is to come from?

When I bought beer or pop I paid for contents plus the bottle deposit, when I sold same the customer paid for both and if he never returns the bottles to anyone the deposit money is the store owners and no one elses.

Deposit money is the cost in part of a bottle, if this bottle is broken or otherwise disposed of who gets the so called deposit money?

Deposit money really exists in a never never land. There is no way of figuring where this money is at any one time.

It is the property of whoever has it at any one time.

Back to knitting!

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I just finished reading an article in Reader's Digest in which a young man was describing his grandfather and grandmother.

The article was tender and insightful as he told gently of the things he remembered about his grandfather and how proud he was to show the old gentleman off to his bride.

As a sidelight to the grandfather, the author touched briefly on his stooped, kindly grandmother, who, as far as he was concerned, had spent all of her years sitting in a rocking chair and knitting.

"Oh gee," I said to my husband who is also a grandfather. "This article makes me sad. When our grandsons are grown up there will be lots for them to remember about you, but there will be nothing to remember about me, because never did I learn to knit."

"Oh there might be other things to remember," he said kindly enough. "Your grandchildren will be able to remember lying on the floor with you watching television. I don't think there are too many grandmothers who like to lie on the floor with their grandchildren and watch cartoons."

"That's right," I mused, "but somehow that doesn't seem to be the stuff that remembrances are made of." And I let the tears roll down my cheeks.

"Why don't you go somewhere and learn how to knit then?" my overgrown kid asked as he lolled on the sofa.

"I hate knitting!"

"Then don't worry what your grandchildren are going to write about you. You probably won't live that long, anyway."

"These grandparents did," I pointed out to him, but he just shrugged and grinned and said that they probably got married young enough to sire budding authors. So I left him and his father watching the football game and took my sorrowful feeling over to my little grandson's home.

"Mikey," I said to him, sitting down on the floor beside him, "Do you love your grandma?"

"Which one?" he asked, jamming a wheel on his matchbox car.

"Me," I answered.

"Yep."

"Mikey, when you grow up what will you remember most about your grandma?" I asked, handing him another tiny wheel.

"Nothin'."

"What do you mean nothing? Won't you remember anything?"

"Yep," he answered, frowning in concentration as his little sturdy fingers pried the wheel onto the car.

"What will you remember?" I asked gently, and smiling in anticipation.

"That when we lay on the floor to watch television you are so warm 'cause you are so fat."

I wonder in some far off future he will write about that and some other grandmother will get wispy-eyed? And she will give up her knitting?

Last Leaf's Lament

By JIM BRADLEY

Fall can be a very sad and symbolic time of year.

Cold, grey skies seem to look coldly down on the unclothed trees which have been stripped of their leafy dignity. Their skeletal frames lift bony boughs skyward as if to plead to be covered against the chill wind of approaching winter.

I tried to capture this felling in a poem I wrote many years ago, entitled: "Fall Trees". Some years later, I wrote "Last Leaf's Lament" in an effort to empathize with the falling leaves and describe their thoughts as they flutter earthward.

FALL TREES

Brown leaves array the ground
Where wily winds have them blown.
They clutter yards all around
In breezes that great flags have flown.

Sorrowful look the barren trees
When their leafy load they lose,
And huddled in low chilled degrees
The loss is not theirs to choose.

Grey skies sympathetically eye
Their disappearance as a sin,
And the trees all winter cry
'Til the leaves return in spring again.

— Jim Bradley

It looks like I'll be the last to go. All around me is loneliness. I'm hanging by the slightest thread, fluttering in circles waiting for the end to come.

All summer long I was crushed among the crowd and ignored. Those more beautiful or colorful than I were plucked and admired, held up for appreciation — but I was hidden as faceless in the throng. Time has moved silently on. Summer's warmth has long since gone and the cool end of autumn is nigh.

Answering the inevitable death knell of fall, my friends have fallen to the depths of despair and faded away. The glow of youth green on the job at first, but experience and the sun has tanned me to my present drabness. . . . I feel I'm losing my grip. Please don't shed tears when I pass on. If my passing beauty has brightened someone's life, then my living has not been in vain.

I hear the drum roll of death. The piper is playing and I feel the cool wind carrying me to my destiny. As I flutter to the ground I'm not sad, for I know I've accomplished my purpose in life.

And though I'll be raked and burned with those who've gone on before, even then some chilled soul may be warmed by my fire.

Health Beat

Alcohol and esophageal veins

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

You sit down at home or in a restaurant and prepare yourself to enjoy one of life's true pleasures: the consumption of a fine meal.

The very sight of some food, it seems, can make the mouth water as the salivary glands leap into action. How does that happen? Briefly, certain nerve endings in the mouth are stimulated by the mechanical process of mastication (chewing). Impulses are transmitted to the brain and are 'reflected' back along the efferent secretory nerves to activate the salivary glands. These cells secrete salivary amylase (or ptyalin) and the digestive process is initiated.

According to Barbara J. Underwood, RN, AT, an alcoholism therapist at the PCHA Heritage Hospital, "If one constantly pours ethyl alcohol into the mouth, inevitably a certain amount of trauma in the form of irritation must take place. After all," she said, "people must understand that ethyl alcohol is possibly the most potent drug one can ingest."

She stressed that she was not addressing herself to the responsible drinker who only occasionally uses alcohol. Rather, she said, "My remarks are addressed to those people who abuse the drug."

As alcohol is swallowed, it travels down the esophagus toward the stomach. At the point where the esophagus enters the stomach, she said that one finds a bundle known as the esophageal veins.

In the normal state, these veins are very small, and most likely you will go through life neither knowing nor caring about their anatomical position or their function.

But, get yourself heavy into booze, and you may soon discover something you'd rather not know.

Mrs. Underwood said that this small bundle of veins is traumatized by inordinate amounts of alcohol; they swell and become engorged. The stage is set for a massive hemorrhage — an event known technically as a ruptured esophageal varix, which is one of the most serious hemorrhages known to man. Indeed, 85 percent of those suffering such a varix expire within five years. Sad to relate, many victims don't live through the first attack.

According to Mrs. Underwood, as the alcohol enters the stomach, and if it is an empty stomach true devastation can occur, certain glands are stimulated to produce maximum amounts of hydrochloric acid within just 20 minutes of the ingestion of just one 'shot' of alcohol. She said that the lining of the stomach can become inflamed and gastritis may be the heavy drinker's reward.

"If the erosion occurs more deeply in the stomach, an ulcer can develop, and another form of massive hemorrhage is possible," she said.

She also indicated that there are times when the ulcer perforates the wall of the stomach spilling the contents into the abdominal cavity with a resultant peritonitis.

Very commonly, inflammation of the stomach causes tissues to swell. If this swelling occurs at the base of the stomach in the area where the stomach passes into the intestine, severe spasm and irritation of the muscles surrounding these tissues may cause them to 'clamp down' and obstruct the passage of food materials into the intestinal tract. At that point, the heavy drinker must face yet another unhealthy situation.

Mrs. Underwood said she wanted to make it clear that she was not leveling a blank indictment against the use of alcohol. "Clearly," she said, "the possibilities I've cited result only from the abuse of alcohol. A glass of wine with a meal can be a civilized action."

Still, she cautioned, maybe it's something all heavy drinkers ought to think about carefully before embarking on a night of merriment.

North defuses Churchill's machine

Chargers fall in state quarter-finals, 14-3

Romulus Public Library
11121 Wayne Road
Bromley, Mich. 48174

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Unbeaten Livonia Churchill, the area's sentimental favorite for the 1978 Michigan High School Athletic Association's post-season playoffs, bowed to a speedy undefeated North Farmington 14-3 in the quarter-finals of the state Class A championships staged Saturday under clear skies at Berkley High.

Coach Ken Kaestner's Chargers mounted but one serious threat - in the first quarter - and was forced to abandon their ground game against North which erased a 3-0 deficit with single touchdowns in the second and third quarters and a fourth quarter safety.

"They shut off our running game," said Kaestner who completed his 11th season at Churchill with an enviable 9-1 won-lost record. "We were forced to go into the air, after we failed to get anywhere on the ground."

Doran Mason, who has spearheaded the Chargers' rushing game, was held to 21 yards in 10 attempts and his teammates had a mere 72 yards for the afternoon.

"We got to give North a lot of credit for their exceptional game," said Kaestner. "After our initial drive, they made some adjustments and we weren't able to counter after that."

In that initial drive, Churchill quarterback Rick Coppola engineered a 60-yard, eight play drive that stalled inside the North 15, so Kaestner decided to go for the field goal.

Coppola made good on the try on the last play of the first quarter, Quarterback Ron Fredericks put together a 53-yard drive that ended with the QB sneaking the ball over into the end zone from the one. But North missed its conversion and Churchill was still very much alive in the game.

However, Coppola found all the doors slammed shut on his runningbacks and decided to go to the air where he connected on nine of 19 passes for 100 yards - but none of those aeriels resulted in scores.

Meanwhile, North bought themselves an insurance TD thanks to fast-moving runningback Jeff Cohen who culminated a 55-yard drive with a one-yard TD plunge.

Late in the game and with Churchill pinned deep in its own territory, North cashed in on Pat Collins' alertness for a two-point safety. Collins nailed Coppola behind the goal line for a safety to end the Chargers' dream of making it to the semi-finals.

North will take on the No. 1 ranked team in the state, Birmingham Brother Rice on Saturday at 1 p.m. in the semi-final round. Rice whipped Birmingham Groves to qualify for the semis. The semi-final round will be played at Groves High.

Meanwhile, in the other Class A bracket, Trenton, the undefeated representative of the Suburban 8 Conference, takes on Traverse City in Lansing to determine which will make the trip to the Silverdome for the state finals.

"We really didn't expect this much from this group," Kaestner said. "We figured we would have a winning season, but these kids continued to excel each week and they became the first team to ever represent the school in a post season football playoff game."

"We're all proud of them," Kaestner added. "Their accomplishments weren't diminished one iota by their loss to an outstanding North team."

John Glenn and football playoffs

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Some pertinent and not so pertinent post playoff information.

If that illegal receiver had been a legal one, or if Glenn had kicked the field goal and edged North Farmington, would Glenn have qualified for the state Class A quarter-finals?

"Yes," replied Jim Thompson, the human computer whose business is to know these things. "If Glenn had beaten North, instead of visa-versa, Chuck Gordon and his Rockets would have represented Region II in the playoffs instead of North."

If you recall, Glenn lost to the undefeated Northwest Suburban Conference champs, 9-7, after a touchdown pass was nullified when the wrong man caught the ball. That occurred after an unsuccessful field goal attempt.

But one of Glenn's opponent, Grand Rapids Union, didn't win a game this year, where would the Rockets pick up all of their bonus points.

"If Glenn would have won, it would have compiled 112.88 points which would have placed it second in its region," Thompson continued, "and, usually, but not necessarily, undefeated teams will make it to the playoffs with the present system."

"And here is another fact that you' area readers may be interested in - Glenn's defense, by allowing only 22 points this season, is the best in the state. No other single team in Michigan can match that defensive performance."

O.K., Jim, let's put you on the spot: If Glenn and Livonia Churchill had met in the quarter-finals instead of Churchill and North Farmington, who would have won.

"Oh, that's easy - Glenn would have beaten Churchill without any difficulty - believe me. Glenn's defense is superb."

Thompson, who majored in math and graduated from Wayne State University, uses his mathematical acuity to supply playoff and other pertinent data to area coaches. He has been on the sidelines of high school games for nearly a decade.

The 33-year-old Oak Park resident, who keeps a separate card on each school - and there are hundreds of them - and jots down the scores, figuring the variables that is becoming as complex as this sentence, then comes up with some answers.

Like, Thompson predicted correctly three of the four Regional winners - Birmingham Brother Rice, Traverse City and North Farmington (his only wrong guess was Fordson) on Aug. 21, 1978.

And, when you consider that he not only had to figure which team would win, but if their respective opponents would also win - the odds are incredible.

And, not only did he manage to pick the winners - he also managed to predict the exact number of playoff points Melvindale (99.55) and Trenton (111.11) would have. Only someone who has tried to work with figures and the variables would appreciate the results of Thompson's work.

Who'll win the Class A championship?

Thompson said it'll be Trenton and Birmingham Brother Rice in the state finals a week from Saturday in the Silverdome.

"And, it's no secret - Brother Rice - is the favorite to go all the way, but one fact that fans may not know is that Rice has a 24-game winning streak, the longest Class A winning streak in the state and they could top the record set by Ann Arbor back in the 50's."

What's that?

"When there was only one Ann Arbor high school, they had a team that won 40 straight."

Thompson, you're a human encyclopedia.

And back to the mundane world of sports - a late item to cross the desk that is noteworthy concerns the performance of ex-Wayne Memorial volleyballer, Ann Kolnytis, who is presently with Schoolcraft College.

Miss Kolnytis helped Schoolcraft finish second at the regional Junior College Volleyball Tournament and was one of six players named to the all-regional team.

The 18-year Westland resident played volleyball for Wayne and was making her debut in national competition.

Schoolcraft finished second to Kellogg Community College in Battle Creek.

The chase is on

Forced to go to the air after their ground game malfunctioned, Livonia Churchill managed to stay in the game against North Farmington thanks to quarterback Rick Coppola's (18) pinpoint passing. Coppola hit on nine of 19 aeriels for 100 yards, but it wasn't enough to stop the undefeated Northwest Suburban Conference champions who advanced to the semi-final round of the Class A state playoffs by ousting the Livonians 14-3. North will take on Birmingham Brother Rice on Saturday at Birmingham Groves with the survivor heading for Pontiac's Silverdome the following week where the winner of the Trenton and Traverse City game will await them.

Belleville gets past Parkers

With high-scoring Laura Houle tossing in 16 points, Belleville turned back Allen Park, 39-30, in a Suburban 8 Conference girls' basketball game last week.

Belleville had a slim 17-12 edge at halftime before Miss Houle brought the Tigers alive with her sharpshooting.

Houle's 19 points helped Belleville rally past a determined Romulus, 62-55, in a nonleaguer earlier in the week.

Romulus, thanks to Chondra Brown's game-high 20 points, held a 29-22 halftime advantage. Gina Carter also was in double figures for Romulus. She had 12.

Joining Miss Houle in the two-figure column were Lisa Ray who sank 12 points, and Vickie Forest, who had 10.

Belleville takes on league rival Livonia Bentley at 8 p.m. on Thursday in an away game.

Top Panelist

Osterberg knows his football

Bert Osterberg, the suave and veteran advertising man in the Associated Newspaper's Belleville office, knows advertising, but he also knows his area high school football teams.

Osterberg proved, in fact, that he knows his teams better than a man whose business is to know all there is about local teams, namely, sports editor Tom Mooradian.

In the recently concluded "Prep Football Predictions", Osterberg proved to Mooradian and a few other panelists that he is the best when it comes to picking the outcome of teams.

Given 97 games for the 1978 season, Bert correctly named the winner 74 times, besting Mooradian by one game.

Mooradian, who unfortunately picked Wayne to upset Westland John Glenn in the finale, had to settle for second place, while third place went to Jim Bradley and Mr. X.

Bradley and Mr. X finished in third with similar 71-26 ratios.

Who was Mr. X? Now that it's all over, the man-behind-the-mask was none other than Eric Gearns, Sports Editor of the University of Detroit newspaper and also an ardent Canton grid fan. (After all his kid brother plays for Coach Dave Schuele's Chiefs).

Sue McDonald, representing the woman on this year's panel, fared well against her male counterparts. She had 65 right and 32 wrong, a total that was equalled by managing editor Dennis Fassett. Fassett came on strong in the stretch as he managed to pick 10 of 11 correctly the last week.

Greg Morrison and Dan Klimkosky, each with 64-33 ratios, tied for sixth place.

And our billiard's champ, Bob Ameen, showed he knows little about prep football in the area. Ameen earned the coveted "Will never try again" award by finishing last (54-43).

If you had gone with the consensus, you were a winner for it had 76 out of the possible 97 times.

So, the tarnished crystal ball goes into the storage room for another year but it'll be back for the 1979 season - we hope.

Monroe eyes Wayne girls' swimming crown

Wayne Memorial's monopoly of the Great Lakes 8 Conference girls' swimming title may come to an end Saturday if Coach Jim McPartlin's tankers don't come up with some surprising excellent performances.

The owner of the conference crown for the past three years, Wayne will place the title on the block this weekend at the conference championships hosted by Monroe.

Monroe, undefeated and triumphant over the Zebras in their dual meet earlier in the season, is favored to capture the title.

"They beat us and are in the driver's seat," said Coach McPartlin whose team carries a 6-1 league and 11-1 over-all mark into the championships. "We'll wait and see."

The preliminaries for the league meet will be held at 4 p.m. on Friday, and the finals will get underway at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Wayne tuned up for the league championships with a resounding 112-60 victory over Riverview as Teri Discher set a Zebra record in winning the 200-yard individual medley in 2:27.5.

Wayne captured nine of the 11 events with Kelly Batterson chipping in two firsts, winning the 50-yard freestyle in 28.3 and stashing away the 500-yard freestyle in 6:10.0. She also helped the Zebras win the 400-yard freestyle relay, teaming with older sister, Gretchen, along with Lacy Lopez and Teri Discher for a 4:08.4.

A long day

Livonia Churchill runningback Doran Mason(44) finds some running room in this quarter-final play against undefeated North Farmington, but it wasn't much. North successfully keyed on the senior back who had piled up more than 1,000 yards this season, holding him to less than 50 in 10 tries and that forced Churchill to shelf its game plans. Churchill came out on the short end of a 14-3 decision Saturday at Berkley High and ended the season with their first loss after nine consecutive victories.

Hanna: 'If guards come through, we'll be decent'

Taking on the likes of Royal Oak Kimball in a Christmas Tournament or the two powers in Ann Arbor - Huron and Pioneer - along with Detroit Pershing during the 1978-1979 basketball season doesn't frighten second year Romulus cage coach Rod Hanna.

Hanna has a 17-game schedule which gets underway on Nov. 28 when the Eagles host Dearborn St. Alphonsus, a Class B district finalist last year.

"We don't have the height," Coach Hanna said, "but I think we have the people and the attitude to do it. We have to run and be aggressive and play fundamentally sound basketball to survive this season."

All-Area gridders are on their way

Just in time to enjoy with your Thanksgiving trimmings, The Associated Newspapers will announce its 1978 All-Area High School Football Team next week.

In cooperation with the area high school coaches, the ANP sports staff has piled up stats and comments about the coveted team which in the past has featured such alumni as all-American collegiate gridders - Keith Simons (Belleville), Kirk Lewis(Michigan), and Al Slamer(Wayne Memorial).

With outstanding quarterbacks such as Rich Hewlett, of Plymouth Salem, Rick Coppola, (Livonia Churchill), Randy Pichan (New Boston Huron), Mark Korte(Wayne Memorial), Rob Suida(Westland John Glenn) and Rick Searcy(Cherry Hill), the job to select the All-Area QB will be one of the toughest in recent years.

And you'll find top players from Glenn, Wayne, Churchill, Franklin, Belleville, Romulus, New Boston Huron, Plymouth Canton, along with Cherry Hill, Inkster and Dearborn Heights Robichaud on the roster.

And who'll be the 1978 "Coach of the Year"? a selection that will also be a tough one to make.

You'll have the answers to all the questions - and more - in next week's traditional All-Area Football Edition.

Plymouth Academy hires athletic director

The Plymouth Christian Academy has appointed Roland (Butch) DeRenzo Jr. to head the school's athletic program.

DeRenzo also will serve as the head basketball coach, according to the school's Board of Regents.

A native of Indiana, DeRenzo received his bachelor of science degree in physical education from Grace College in Winona Lake, Ind., where he also participated in varsity baseball for four years.

DeRenzo was the captain of the team and also won the batting title in his senior year. He was elected to the NCAA All-District Team for two years, and all-conference and NAIA All-District First Team both years.

He was a member of the varsity soccer team team his junior and senior years and played in the national soccer finals for Christian Colleges in 1976. He was elected to the NCAA all-district First Teams his last two years in college.

While in college, he was an active member of the G-Club, the men's varsity athletic and service association.

after several veteran cagers defected to neighboring schools, doesn't have that problem this year.

In fact, a couple of the cagers have returned. Tom Shick, who put his 6-5 frame into a New Boston uniform last year, will be back, playing for the Eagles and so will Dave Casey, a junior, who was on Ypsilanti High's junior varsity roster a year ago.

Hanna has lost only two players - All-Area forward Herb Buckley and Titus Pigee - to graduation, but the rest of the squad that posted an 11-8 over-all record is ready to go.

Among the notables of a year ago are John Kersey, a 6-1 center who will have to battle Shick for the starting pivotman's job. Kersey could easily be switched to a forward position. Then there's the Lewis brothers - Richard and Daryl. Richard(6-1) scored at a 10 point per game clip a year ago and younger brother, Daryl, a junior, scored 12.8 ppg.

Vince Bean, probably the best 'sixth man' around in 1977, came off the bench and hauled down 11.2 rebounds per game and scored 13 ppg. Now, as a junior, the 6-2 forward is expected to contribute even more.

Seniors Michael Johnson(5-8) and Stu Block(5-7) will be handling the guard spots, a job they capably filled a year ago.

Other candidates include Kevin Wilson(5-11), David Holifield(6-0), and Dave Haynes(5-11).

Without an experienced center, Hanna admits that the Eagles will need to rely largely on their speed. And then added, "that if we develop our guards and they come through, we're going to have a decent ball club because I know these kids can do the job."

Chelsea's too much for Tigers

A veteran-laden Chelsea age-group swimming team proved to be too much for the Belleville Tigers' Swim Club which dropped a 446-261 decision to their rivals.

But the Tigers managed to get their share of first places, chalking up five gold medals, including a first in the individual breaststroke where Laura Kuhr turned in the winning time of 39.8 seconds for the 50-yards in the 13-14 age bracket.

Miss Kuhr also helped the Tigers win the 200-yard medley relay as she teamed with Jill Laramie, Melody Clark, Stacy Samuels for a 2:16.0.

The Tigers also had the best 9-10 year old, 100-yard medley boys' relay team with Matt Stoelton, Tony Attewell, Adams Theeke and Ernest Paponetti.

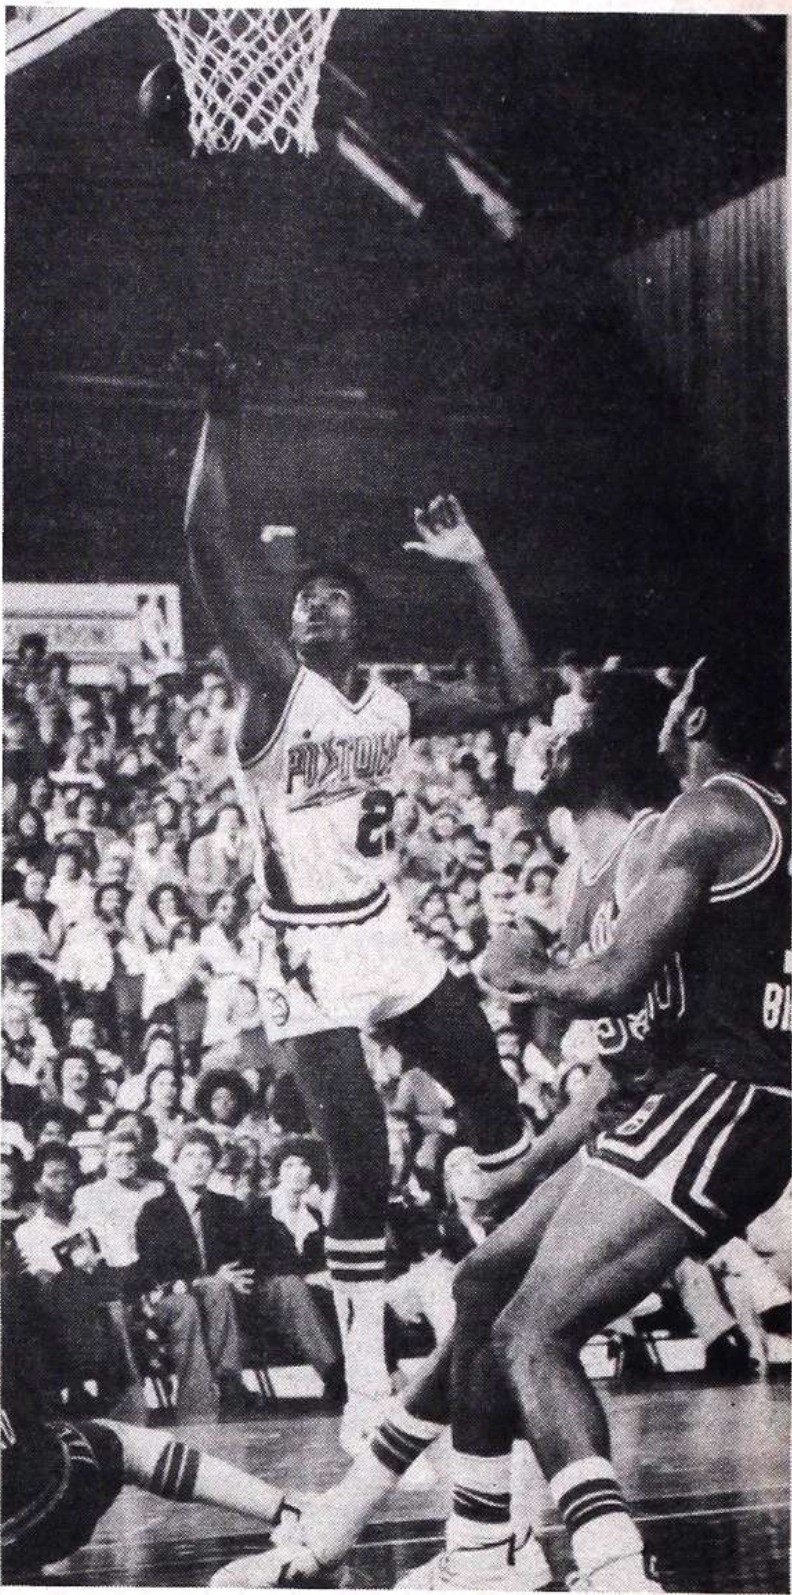

In the 100-yard, 9-10, freestyle relay event, Greg Lurch, Adam Theeke, David Greer and Kelley Crain combined on a 1:15 performance, good for a first place.

Stacy Samuels, Melody Clark, Jill Laramie and Miss Kuhr also won the 200-yard freestyle relay in 2:05.

After meeting Plymouth Monday night, the Tigers return to home waters on Nov. 27 when they will host Willow Run at 6 p.m.

Wrestlers, attention

The Michigan Wrestling Club has started another season with practice scheduled for Monday and Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m. The club is practicing at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Rd., Livonia and former high school and college wrestlers are invited to participate.

Familiar role

Johnny Long, the kid that grew up shooting basketball on the side streets in Romulus, has developed into a blue-chip Piston player. Above, Long fakes out three Kansas City Kings players to score a couple of points. The 6-5 Romulus product who was a sensation at the University of Detroit, has played at forward and guard for the Pistons and has been the third-highest scorer on the team and is the leader in a number of steals for the Pistons.

Ocelots run third at league finals

Climaxing an excellent season, Schoolcraft College harriers earned a third place team finish at the eastern Conference Championships hosted by Delta College last week.

The Ocelots trailed Macomb Community and Oakland Community Colleges in the final standings.

Phil Reed and Doug Vorbeck led the local harriers, finishing ninth (26:42) and tenth(26:46), respectively for the five-mile run.

Reed and Vorbeck were also named to the all-conference teams. Also contributing to the ocelots' success were Paul York, who was 16th in a 28:15 run and Mark McKenney, 17th (28:15), while Brian Hanna was 23rd (29:54).

In the women's three-mile championships, Jennifer DeVenny finished second with a time of 19:27, and was also named to the all-league team.

With the exception of York, all the local runners turned in their best times.

Miss DeVenny was the only member of the Schoolcraft squad to qualify for the National Junior College Cross Country Championships which will be conducted in Champaign, Ill.

The ocelots posted a dual meet record of 3-1 on the season.

Armstrong is lone holdover

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Westland John Glenn will get the jump on most prep cage teams as the defending Northwest Suburban Conference champ begin a 20-game schedule on Tuesday against Taylor

Kennedy, which has not caused Coach Gordie Davis, Rockets trouble in the past, could do just that this year as the Westlanders lost four of their five starters to graduation in June.

"We don't know what Kennedy has," said Davis who launches his 11th year as head coach with many questions unanswered. "This early in the season, we're going to have to wait and see."

Davis does have one of the finest guards in the area in Daran Armstrong whose 17 points per game and numerous assists helped the Rockets capture the Northwest Suburban Conference championship, the district title and advance to the regional finals before Detroit

Not so fast

Livonia Churchill's defense is ready for North Farmington's Mike Miller (40) who finds Dave Krick (at right, white jersey) who is the unmovable object in this play. Miller and the Raiders burst Churchill's playoff dreams, eliminating them in the Class A state quarter-finals. It was Churchill's first appearance in the post-season classic, but Ken Kaestner vows it won't be his last.

Futurama sets its sights on Over 30 Hockey title

Futurama Engineering, off to an excellent start, has served notice that it has its eyes on the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey title.

The Engineers clashed with usually tough Extra Point Bar and came off the ice with an impressive 7-3 victory. The winners were led by their "old vanguard" - Norm Hankala who fired in two goals, and also had two assists, and Bill Kesley who equalled Norm's production. Keith Middaugh and Art Cazabon also tallied for the winners.

Meanwhile, Johnson Carbonic moved into second place thanks to a 4-2 victory over Four Seasons. Johnson had a 4-0 shutout working for it when 4-Seasons suddenly erupted for two goals.

Ron Johnson and Dennis "Duck" Broge handled all of the winner's scoring by connecting for two goals apiece, while Paul Briski and Ken Wallace tallied for the losers.

Jack's Sporting Center also claimed a share of second by outclassing Tasee Freez by a 5-2 count. The winners took a three goal first period lead and were in control all the way. Jerry Robertson had three goals, his first hat trick of the season, while Jerry Grube and Jerry Hawley added single goals.

Lee Callaway and Mo Paquette scored for the losers.

Brock Homes made it a three-team race for second and it joined Jack's in the runners-up slot with a convincing 8-3 victory over Huron Valley Total.

A five goal first period settled the issue early as Chuck Herbst, Ken Carter and Rod Dittmar all scored a couple of goals for the winners. Dick Burns and Dave Lojac chipped in with one apiece.

Dan Demers, John Colligan and Jack Backstanz scored for he losers.

This week's match-up, Futurama will head for Westland Area to take on Brock Homes in the first game of a twin bill at 6:30 p.m. In the nightcap, Extra Point will try to snap out of its doldrums at the expense of Huron Valley. That game is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Wayne Arena will be the scene of the Tasee Freez and Johnson Carbonic clash, also scheduled for 9 p.m. on Sunday, while the 10:30 p.m. game pits Four Seasons against an ever-improving Jack's club.

10 of 11 Patriots are back

Jim McIntyre's first year as Livonia Franklin's head basketball coach was a "rebuilding one."

With 10 of 11 returning to McIntyre's squad this year, the sophomore Patriots' coach is ready to challenge the leaders - Westland John Glenn and North Farmington.

Franklin starts the 1978-79 campaign against perennial powerhouse, Plymouth Salem, which has captured the last three versions of the Suburban 8 Conference championship. After the Tuesday, Nov. 28 opener, the Patriots will run up against the likes of an improved Canton, Livonia Bentley and defending Northwest Suburban Conference champs, Westland John Glenn.

"Glenn has lost most of its starters to graduation but they have Daran (Armstrong) back and they also have a lot of good-looking prospects," said McIntyre. "Glenn is going to be tough, and so will North Farmington. It's just going to be one heck of a year, believe me."

McIntyre isn't lacking a seasoned talent either. In 6-5 Chris Baker, an All-Area selection a year ago, the Franklin coach has the nucleus to field a contender. Baker and 6-6 Matt Thomas will give the Livonians a lot of board strength, something they lacked since the days of Kevin Kaseta, the all-stater who starred for the University of Detroit.

Jeff Reich, a 6-3 senior forward, also is no stranger to the hardwood and could be one of the top players in the area if the chips fall right.

Add to this trio, guard Jim Wilson (6-1½) and Gary DeYonker, a deft ballhandler who's 5-9, and Ron Lohman, a 6-1 sophomore who, despite his youth covets a starting berth, and you have the reasons why McIntyre is predicting good things for Franklin fans this year.

Belleville faces tough grind in league loaded with talent

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville High School's cage squad enters this season without four of last year's starters — but Head Coach Tom Niemi still looks forward to an exciting season.

The blond-haired mentor, who is starting his sixth season at the helm, admits he has a lot of questions that will have to be answered.

However, Herb Burrus, a 5-foot-10 All-Suburban 8 League guard last year, will guide the Tiger attack and Niemi hopes to get a supporting cast that will make his squad competitive again this year.

"We will play fast, exciting basketball with a lot of hustle," said Niemi, who is the only coach to beat Plymouth Salem each of the last five seasons. Salem has only lost about 10 games during that span and half have been inflicted by hustling Belleville cagers.

Of course, the loss of All-State candidate Kelvin Patterson to Ypsilanti this fall will put a serious crimp in Belleville's ability to light up the scoreboard. The talented Patterson poured in 20 points, hauled down 12 rebounds and dished out eight assists during an average game in a Belleville uniform last year. That will be hard to replace.

However, Niemi has some dedicated cagers who hope to form a winning combination. And they hope to put it together soon, because Ypsilanti is the Tigers' first opponent in the season opener, Tuesday, Nov. 28, at Belleville's gym.

Joining Burrus in the backcourt is Gary Herndon, a 5-8 junior, who played quite a bit at the end of last season and has a good chance to nail down the other starting guard berth.

Junior Scott Straight, a 6-3 postman, is coming off surgery and Niemi hopes he will be able to play. Others who Niemi is counting on include Brian Brinkerhoff, a 5-8 senior guard, but the backcourt ballhandler was scheduled to undergo an operation on a knee which was hurt during football season.

Charles Blackmon, another 5-8 junior who started on the JV squad last year has a good chance to see a lot of action. "We're looking for him to help us a lot," Niemi said. "He's quick, a good shooter and hustles very well."

Manning the double post positions in the front court will be senior Bradley McLean, a 6-2 senior, a returning letterman, and 6-2 Jeff Patterson, up from last year's JV squad.

"Some others are coming out who have a good chance to make the starting line-up," said Niemi, who suffered his only losing season last year after four winning ones.

"We'll be quick — we're not big, but we're fast and it will be a question if we can rebound with other teams because of our lack of height. We'll pressure on defense, but we'll have to stay out of foul trouble because of lack of depth."

Niemi says Belleville has its toughest schedule in years. Playing in the rugged Suburban 8 League, one of the toughest in the state, Niemi looks to last year's co-champions, Plymouth Salem and Livonia Bentley, as the teams to beat.

Both have almost their entire teams returning, as does Redford Union, which finished third last year. Belleville wound up tied for fourth last year with Dearborn.

Niemi says the Tigers will find out in a hurry what kind of team they have. "We open at home against Ypsilanti and Livonia Bentley our first two games and then travel to Plymouth Canton, which is led by Butch King, one of the purest shooting guards in the state."

The loss of Patterson to Ypsilanti, and graduation of forwards Elvis Currie and Chris Koger and guard Rob Laney, all starters last year, is a big obstacle to overcome.

But Niemi says his hustling squad will play fast, exciting, crowd-pleasing basketball this year and if efforts will bring success, Belleville will be in contention in every game.

"Fan support is vitally important," Niemi stresses, "and if our fans will get behind our young team, they will not only encourage the players, but see an outstanding brand of basketball on our schedule this year."

Crucial decision

After their initial drive stalled deep in North Farmington territory, Livonia Churchill coach Ken Kaestner and quarterback Rick Coppola got together to discuss the obvious — should they go for the TD or the three-point field goal. They decided on the field goal and Coppola went back to the field and booted a 27-yarder to give the Chargers a 3-0 first quarter lead. But that margin dissipated in the second quarter as North rallied to a 14-3 victory in the quarter-finals of the Class A state playoffs at Berkley.

Undefeated Tigers

Despite Belleville High's dismal 1-8 varsity football record, the Tigers one day may field an undefeated team, that is, if the Cougars, who competed in the Western Suburban Junior Football League, stick together and attend the high school together. Coach Sam Villa's freshman ended the campaign with a perfect record and the roster included: David Brinkerhoff, Smokey Armstrong, Gregory Freitas, John Andrews,

Bates and Doug Martin. Are there adequate replacements?

"We have some boys who are working very hard," said Davis. "They didn't see very much action last year, but I'm hoping they will develop in time to make us contenders."

In the wing Davis has a rugged 6-4 griddier, Brad Jennings who should be able to handle the pivot spot once he gets the gridiron kinks out. Then there is Tim Ruark, who also starred on the gridiron and whose quickness should be an asset to the Rockets. The 5-11 senior will probably be teamed with Armstrong in the backcourt.

Davis is looking at Ralph

Romulus harriers set pace at Adrian

Adrian College harriers, paced by a couple of former Romulus runners, Joe Schieda and Steve Zimmerman, earned sixth place at the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) cross country championships last week.

Hop College easily won the seven-team event with 33 points. Albion edged Alma for second place, 80 to 82, while Calvin was fourth (92), and Kalamazoo was fifth with 107 points.

Adrian scored 145 points to nip Olivet (156) for sixth place.

Garden City sophomores Mark Boyd took 11th place for the five-mile run in 26:22, while Schieda turned in the 16th best time in 25:37, and Zimmerman was 47th.

Adrian's Lynnda Host of Walled lake was 48th in 40:07 and was the first woman ever to compete in the MIAA cross country championships.

"We built a base for a team that could successfully compete in the league," said Bulldog coach Forest Haines. "We're young, Boyd and Schieda are just sophomores and I'm confident of our team's future."

Huron's best

Finishing third in their conference paved the way for some post-season accolades for Huron gridders Eddie Umin (from left), Bruce Wood, Kelly

Summerfield, Randy Pichan, Mark Morris and Fred Block who were named last week by the coaches to the all-conference team.

Bee Jays shine

The Bee Jays, the 1977 Wayne Recreation Ladies' Volleyball champs, getting outstanding performances from Kathy Hayes and Teresa Sharpe, turned back Jack's Sports Center in three sets.

The champs dumped their rivals 15-5, 15-2 and 15-7.

Meanwhile, last year's league champs, La Parisian defeated Paul Bosco & Sons to keep their share of first place.

The two top teams will meet later this month to settle their first place differences.

In other games, the Ups and Downs survived a close call with Tec-Air's Bombers to keep pace with Guess Who in the B Division.

In Division C Swope Car Company and Jake's Lounge are tied for first place as Burghuff's and Wonder Women had their problems against the league leaders.

On top of the D Division are the Sweethearts and the Darned If I Know and a notch below are Westland Sports Shop and The Rubien.

Schwartz rebuilds Wayne '5'

Rookie coach to rely on speed and youth

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer
Talent, speed, youth and inexperience.

STEVE SCHWARTZ

That's the exciting and unpredictable combination that first year head coach Steve Schwartz will put on the court for Wayne Memorial High School this season.

Schwartz, in his sixth year at Wayne Memorial, piloted the junior varsity squad to the Great Lakes Eight Conference title last year with a 12-2 record. The JV's won their first 11 league games before losing and wound up with a season mark of 15-5.

And that squad is basically the one which will carry the hopes of the Zebras, whose 10-4 record last year was good for second place behind Taylor Truman's scintillating 13-1 first place finish.

Schwartz sees Truman as the title favorite again this year, along with perennial power Dearborn Fordson, and Taylor Center.

"We can contend for the title. We have an awful lot of talent — it just depends how fast they mature and develop. They are inexperienced, but we're going to win a lot of ballgames and I look for us to be competitive in every game we play," he said.

Only four seniors are returning to help steady the youth of the Zebra quintet. Kyle Poteau, 5-10 guard, Mark Zeron, 6-foot forward, and Kelvin Lee, a 6-foot guard-forward, saw quite a bit of action last year and started several games.

Joining them will be senior John Arthur, a 5-11 guard.

Ten members of the JV squad will move up to the varsity with Schwartz who assisted former head coach Bill Hawley for two years before coaching the 10th graders last year.

He has high hopes for his junior-laden squad. Highlighting the newcomers to the varsity ranks are Darryl Jordan, a 6-5 jumping jack who led the team in scoring and rebounding with 10 points and 10 caroms each contest. Last year, Jordan was only 6-2 and has grown three inches since last winter.

Gearing the Zebra attack will be 5-9 guard Greg Reynolds, who pumped in 10 points a game and played the role of floor general. He broke his arm with about four games left last year and the team lost three of the four. However, Jordan had been elevated to the varsity the final five games and the team lost a lot of its firepower.

Other juniors Schwartz is counting on to contribute to a winning Wayne effort are Russell Coleman, 6-3 forward; Paul Fluegel, 6-4 center; John Hebler, 6-4 center; Bob Kost, 5-8 guard; Jim Earby, 6-foot guard who transferred from Inkster; Pete Tavana, 5-9 guard, Andy Daily, 5-10 guard and Jamie Barber, a 6-2 forward.

"We will run an Indiana-style motion offense," Schwartz pointed out. "The biggest thing is teaching the kids to read the defenses and we'll take what the defense opens up. We have enough speed to take the fast break, but it will be a controlled break."

3-Point landing

As a North Farmington defender futilely attempts to block the kick, Churchill's Rick Coppola put the ball into a three-point orbit to give the Chargers a brief lead during the quarter-finals of the state Class A playoffs. Coppola's field goal turned out to be the only bright spot for the previously undefeated Western Six Conference champs who lost to their counterparts from the Northwest Suburban Conference, 14-3.

Soccer fever hits Belleville

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Pele, considered the greatest soccer player in the game's history, may not know it but he and his colleagues have caused a fever in Belleville - "soccer fever."

"It's really catching on," said Don Franklin, who coaches youngsters in that city and whose Furies wound up with a perfect season. "I think one of the reasons why the sport has become so popular is that everyone can play it."

"In football or basketball and wrestling, you need special physical qualifications to really play," contends Franklin. "In soccer, all sizes and shapes get on the field." Franklin coaches the 5 to 8 year old age group and his minions came up with an undefeated season, beating The Express in the championship game 1-0 as Eric Harris bootied in the decisive goal.

The Furies had previously won eight straight and only had one goal scored against them thanks to the exceptional goaltending by Gerry Warsop and John Ellward.

In its first year of existence, the Belleville Soccer League has lured more than 110 players to the field and they compete in age bracket competition. Most of the money to support the teams comes from the parents, but Van Buren Township's Parks and Recreation Department also provides help in the form of fields and finances.

"Equipment and soccer balls are among the major expenses," said Franklin, "all of the coaching is done by volunteers who really roll up their sleeves to help."

A Ferris State student who majors in architecture, Franklin says that he hopes to see the local leagues expand "and have more kids involved in the future."

"When it comes to learning to cooperate and help one another, I don't think you can find a better sport than soccer as a vehicle for teaching the positive goals in life," Franklin added.

Catching on

Like a fever, soccer is spreading in Belleville as more than 100 youngsters have enrolled in leagues organized by the parents with the support of the Van Buren Township recreation department. With volunteer coaches supplying the instructions, players compete according to age groups and also play for league championships. Don Franklin, one of the coaches, says he envisions a time when soccer will become as popular as baseball and football with the youngsters, "because soccer appeals to all shapes and sizes."

It's Parents' Night Thursday

League co-leaders Wayne, Monroe clash for cage title

With the memory of their recent loss to Wayne Memorial fresh on their minds, Monroe cagers will invade Wayne Thursday night in hopes of avenging their lone Great Lakes 8 girls' basketball setback.

Wayne, after losing to Fordson earlier in the week, share first place with Monroe who could sew up the championship with a victory over Coach Steve Schwartz' Zebras.

"We beat them over there and that's their only league loss," commented Schwartz who will have the home court advantage Thursday night when the two rivals clash again. "Monroe is an excellent team and we're going to have to be ready for them."

It's also Wayne's Parents' Night and the turnout should be a good one. It wasn't however a good night for the Zebras last Thursday as Fordson cut a nine-game Wayne winning streak, 41-34.

Wayne blew a 23-18 halftime lead as the Zebras found themselves unable to overcome a rash of turnovers. None of the local players reached double figures but Theresa Calligari and Kim Mason each had eight points while Sandy Braun scored seven.

Meanwhile, Wayne got back on the winning track with a 41-37 victory over Riverview. The game wasn't as close as the final score indicates - Riverview closed the gap thanks to 10 points in the final three minutes of the game.

Beth Tracy paced the winners with 12 points.

Miss Braun sank seven of 10 free throws and contributed 11 points as the Zebras stunned neighborhood rivals, Westland John Glenn, 44-35 in a nonleague game.

Wayne headed into the week with a 5-1 league and a 10-4 over-all record. The Zebras also were scheduled to play Lincoln Park on Tuesday, before their crucial 7:30 p.m. Thursday engagement with Monroe.

Romulus cage stars host Willow Run

Some of the former Romulus basketball greats will be on the hardwood Friday night to help kickoff the 1978-79 season.

Former stars such as Mike Woods, Charles Johnnican, James Hall, Mike Morrison, Herb Buckley, Larry Smith, Nate Davis, Al Lewis and Wendell Buckley are scheduled to play in the second game of a doubleheader which gets underway at 6:30 p.m.

In the opening game, a Romulus faculty team will clash with its counterparts from Willow Run, then at 8 p.m., the ex-stars will take the floor.

Johnny Long, former Romulus all-star who went on to fame at the University of Detroit and is presently starting for the Detroit Pistons, may put in a guest appearance, according to Ron Hanna, Romulus varsity Coach.

"We're hoping his schedule will permit him to be here that night not as a player but as a spectator," Hanna said.

On Monday, Nov. 20, it'll be "Meet Your Team" night at 6 p.m. when teams representing the eighth, ninth, junior and senior varsity will scrimmage.

For the Nov. 17 and Nov. 20 games, there is a small admission charge of 50 cents and $1 for students and adults, respectively.

That game also spelled the downfall for many of the contestants in The Associated Newspapers weekly Football Contest. # Pumpkin Mousse ala mode

Pumpkins have many faces other than the ones that grin on Halloween. There's the face of pie, of cake, of souffles, of bread, of preserves and even of soup. As Pumpkin Mousse a la Mode, this delicious golden fruit combines with ice cream, Jell-O Americana vanilla tapioca pudding and spices to present an elegant face for holiday entertaining.

Mousse, which is French for foam, is characteristically light in texture and this recipe is no exception. The frozen mixture has a velvety smooth texture and, served in small portions, Pumpkin Mousse a la Mode is an ideal dessert to climax a big holiday meal. While it is somewhat more involved than the usual run of holiday desserts, it can be made in advance — ideally, the night before the big day — and tucked away in the freezer until ready to serve.

Pumpkin Mousse ala Mode

1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
1 package (3-1/4 oz.) vanilla tapioca pudding
1 cup evaporated milk
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1-1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1-1/4 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice+
1 envelope whipped topping mix
1/2 cup chopped pecans

+Or use 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger and 1/2 teaspoon each ground cinnamon* and ground nutmeg.

Spread softened ice cream evenly over bottom and sides of 2-quart straight-sided mold or saucepan, placing mold briefly in freezer if ice cream is too soft to spread. Freeze until firm.

Meanwhile, combine pudding mix, evaporated milk, brown sugar, pumpkin and spice in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Pour into bowl. Cool 15 to 20 minutes, stirring once or twice. Cover surface of pudding with wax paper and chill thoroughly.

Meanwhile, prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package. Stir chilled pudding until creamy; then fold in prepared whipped topping and pecans. Spoon into ice cream-lined mold. Freeze 6 hours or overnight. Quickly dip mold in warm water; unmold onto serving plate. Garnish with additional prepared whipped topping, if desired. Store in freezer until ready to serve. Makes 2 quarts or 16 servings.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Whatever happened to "thank you"? You know — those two rather archaic words that could make a person kinda glow and maybe stand a little taller?

That's the question implied in a note we received from an old acquaintance in our circulation area which reads:

Dear Lee,
I know you wrote about thank you notes awhile back and I, for one, was glad to see the reminder to so many "forgetful" people. But, Lee, why don't you remind folks that the simplest act in the whole wide world (which takes no time or effort at all) is saying thank you.

Some time back, I gave a shower for a niece who was always very special to me. Because of this, I really went all out for the shower and it turned out beautifully. But, can you believe, I never heard the words thank you once from that girl? Not at the shower, not on a card, nothing!

I am still trying to get over my hurt but it's not going away and I sure feel different about my niece these days. All she had to do was say "thank you, auntie, it was nice." But nothing. Please remind people it costs nothing (not even a 15 cent stamp) to say those words.

Please don't use my name, Lee, for obvious reasons.

Our understandably-anonymous writer pretty well puts things in perspective, I'd say. Feeling just a smidgeon like Abigail Van B., I will add a few comments since it's a feeling (letdown — dejection) we've all experienced at some time in our lives — that of not being appreciated.

Can there be anything more deflating than to be left completely unacknowledged after a true effort at pleasing someone? Why not make it a point (maybe a little contest within yourself) to see how many times in one day you can come up with those two important words.

Perhaps to the waitress who refills your coffee cup smilingly . . . to that gentleman (who's not yet gone the Chauvin route) who stops to hold the door for you . . . to the telephone operator who gives you information . . . to that fellow-shopper who tells you the hem is coming out of your skirt . . . the waiter who advises against your choice of entree and says, "THIS is much better tonight" . . . the friend who overheard your comment about the high price of nutmeats and tells you where the best buy is . . . to the people who shared their pumpkin crop with you . . . those who take the time to drop get-well, anniversary and birthday cards, ETC., ETC. We'd probably all be amazed at the thank-you opportunities we let slip away.

For those of you planning your menus for the upcoming holidays, I've gathered a few dessert recipes you might want to check out. They were all contributed by former Cooks of the Month (which I tucked in my own personal file) and you'll find a few familiar names among the contributors.

The recipes may be found elsewhere on the Suburban Living pages since there's just not enough room for a complete rundown in "potpourri." Hope you discover one that interests you.

BOO — to Princess Ann. Not accepting that little tyke's proffered handshake! Guess you know SHE doesn't have to worry about running for election.

BOO — to Susan Ford. Bet she delighted American auto manufacturers with her contract to tote those Japanese 4-wheelers. Whatever happened to loyalty or patriotism or whatever that silly bit of backbone was called? Maybe she ought to be called Sue Bar — Ford's rather a paradox, don't you think?

In one of the press releases we receive weekly, there was a suggestion for cooking squash. Prepare acorn or butternut in an oven cooking bag. It's a great way, they contend, to tenderize the rinds without loss of moisture, flavor or bright color. Haven't tried it myself but intend to Dieticians have reported that the average American will consume some 2,000 calories at Thanksgiving dinner alone (that doesn't count the rest of the day.)

But, what the heck, that's the day when most of us ignore whatever semblance of a diet we're following and go whole-hog (literally!) Among the great delights our early American cooks left to posterity were the countless ways of turning cornmeal, wheat and rice into marvelous breads, rolls, buns, scones, you name it.

This coming holiday why not deviate a bit from the traditional parkerhouse rolls and surprise your family with johnny cake, baking powder biscuits or brown bread.

The name "johnny cake" goes far back into Colonial days when a trip from one settlement to the next was really a "journey" — a full day's jaunt. Then the traveler's good wife would fashion little "journey cakes" of corn meal to fit into his knapsack so he could break his fast along the way.

Over the years the name has been contracted into "johnny cake." Rhode Islanders still like to make theirs (and they drop the "h", by the way) from white corn meal, and to bake them as their many-times-great-grandmothers did, as small cakes in a spider or skillet.

Elsewhere in New England yellow corn meal is usually used and the cakes baked in the oven — (and spelled with the "h").

Following are two versions to choose from, one a bit more involved than the other.

RHODE ISLAND JONNY CAKE

Mix together in a bowl:

2 cups white corn meal

2 tablespoons sugar

2 1/4 teaspoons salt

Make a well in center of dry ingredients and add all at one time:

2 cups milk

Beat until smooth and thoroughly mixed.

Test griddle or skillet; it is hot enough for baking when drops of water sprinkled on surface dance in small beads. Lightly grease griddle or skillet.

For each jonny cake, spoon 1 tablespoon batter onto the heated griddle or skillet. Cook until browned on one side. Using a spatula, carefully turn and brown second side. Repeat procedure for remaining batter. Serve hot with butter and maple syrup. Makes about 4 dozen cakes.

JOHNNY CAKE

Grease the bottom of an 8 x 8 x 2 pan.

Mix together in bowl:

1 cup flour

1/4 cup sugar

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon baking soda.

Mix in:

1 cup yellow corn meal.

Make a well in center of dry ingredients and set aside.

Beat until thick:

Blend in:

1 cup buttermilk or sour milk

2 tablespoons melted butter or oleo

2 tablespoons molasses.

Add liquid mixture all at one time to dry ingredients. Beat until just smooth, being careful not to overmix. Turn batter into pan and spread to corners. Bake at 425 degrees about 20 minutes or until wooden pick or cake tester comes out clean when inserted in center. Break or cut into 2-inch squares. Serve hot with butter, honey or maple syrup. Makes 16 squares.

THE BOTTOM LINE: If you want friendships to last, put them first.

Diane Wilson named 'Woman of the Year' by Junior Study Club

At a recent meeting of the Belleville Junior Study Club, members were given questionnaires to complete for the club's "Woman of the Year" award. Judged on a candidate's activities in the club, the community and her church; with her family and for herself, the point-system results, a total of 100, found Diane F. Wilson to be this year's winner.

Mrs. Wilson, who resides at 245 Roland St., Belleville, with her husband, Tom, and two children, Amy, nine, and Kathleen, five, is one of the Study Club's most active and contributing members.

Not only has Mrs. Wilson served as club secretary and chairman of the education committee, but she also conducted the research for a name for the club scholarship and personally contacted the family of Genevieve Clark for background and history and eventual permission to use her name on the award. Her work toward developing the scholarship included handling publicity and receiving donations.

She headed the committee which sponsored an Interlochen art scholarship (for which the club received a project award); brought in a new club member, contributed items for the card party hope chest, sold tickets for the event, made centerpieces, baked pies, and served as hostess and a member of the clean-up committee for the group's main fund raiser.

Her contributions toward the General Federation of Women's Clubs included a written education report, an oral report on history of the area, attendance at the spring convention and chairmanship of the federation scholarship program.

Mrs. Wilson's most outstanding contribution to her community was the book, "Water Under the Bridge", which she co-authored with another club member, Cathy Horste. The 742-page history of Van Buren Township was the culmination of almost three years of research and writing.

Rummage sale, ice follies next on senior citizens' busy schedule

The group which comprises the September Days Senior Citizen Club (SDSCC) has quite a busy schedule ahead of them with all kinds of activities lined up for their enjoyment.

Membership in the SDSCC has grown in one short year under the direction of Virginia Melcher and the sponsorship of the Van Buren Township board, the City of Belleville, Huron Township, Sumpster Township and the Van Buren Department of Parks and Recreation.

Highlighting November doings for the group will be a Thanksgiving party with turkey and all the traditional trimmings on Tuesday, Nov. 21. A birthday luncheon at 12 noon for all members celebrating November birthdays will precede the dinner party which will be followed by food-bingo and fun. Cost of the party is $1 for September Days members and $2.50 for non-members.

A week later, on Wednesday, Nov. 29, area seniors will hold a rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Center on Tyler Road. Members have been busy collecting clean, usable clothing and furniture as well as new, handmade gift articles and Christmas trimmings and crafts which will be included in the sale along with baked goods.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to help furnish the new recreation building.

Senior citizens and the township officials invite the public to take this opportunity to visit the new recreation center to see what facilities it offers and to aid the group in furnishing the building.

December will begin with a day-long trip to Detroit and the Ice Follies at the Olympia. The Dec. 2 program will cost $10 and will include main floor seating, bus tickets and supper after the show. The group will leave the local Center at 11 a.m. Space is limited so make your reservation now.

Through the cooperation of the Belleville Public Library, September Days Seniors will have an opportunity to borrow books from a mobile library unit which will visit three area sites during the lunch hour on designated days.

The mobile unit will be at the Van Buren Township Center on Tuesday, Nov. 28; at the Sumpster Township on Wednesday, Nov. 29 and at the New Boston Center on Thursday, Nov. 30.

Members are invited to browse and borrow books on the day the unit visits their area. Books will be returned and-or exchanged four weeks later when the mobile library makes its next visit.

Many September Days members and good-hearted area residents have contributed books (both hard cover and paperbacks) from their own shelves to help stock the mobile unit. If you wish to donate books for this purpose, please call the Center

Washtenaw offers quilting, other crafts

Washtenaw Community College will offer a special 2 session workshop on quilting beginning Thursday, Nov. 16, from 7 to 10 p.m.

Zane Olukals, crafts instructor, will teach the class providing participants with methods for quilting, for doing appliques and for making designs for hand or machine sewing. No previous knowledge of these skills is required for enrollment in the class.

The sessions will be held Nov. 16 and Nov. 30 at the College's Ypsilanti Center at 411 Florence.

A $10 fee will be charged for class materials. In-district senior citizens may participate at no charge. Advanced tentative registration is requested and can be made by calling the Ypsi Center staff at 482-2230.

Additional crafts classes in needlepoint, macrame and embroidery will be offered before the holidays.

The needlepoint class will be offered Dec. 1 and 8 from 1:30-4 p.m. Instruction will be given in at least a dozen stitches as well as in their use in creating designs, transferring patterns and adaptation of these techniques to furniture, clothing and bags.

The embroidery class will stress using the stitchery on clothes, curtains and other fabrics.

The 2 session macrame class, offered Dec. 4 and 11 from 1:30-4 p.m., will provide a modern view of an ancient craft. Instruction will begin in doing various knots; techniques, materials and designs for making belts, wall-hangings, plant holders and hammocks. Materials will be provided as part of the $7 fee. Senior citizens are invited to attend at no charge.

As with other Ypsi Center classes, advanced tentative registration is requested. Questions and registration can be cared for by calling the Ypsi Center staff at 482-2230.

Legislative committee presents BPW Club's November program

The Legislation Committee of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) was in charge of the November meeting held at Faith United Methodist Church in Denton. A last-minute summation of the many proposals on the election ballot was given by President Irene Christie who read the proposals, Ruth Baehr who gave supporters' views and Mabel Hall who read the opposing ideas.

The Humanitarian Committee made plans to visit the Sunnyview Convalescent Home for a bingo party on Nov. 17 and for a Christmas sing-along on Dec. 15.

Wednesday, Nov. 15, has been designated as "Shopping Spree

Day" at the Belleville A & P Store when five per cent of everything spent will be donated directly to the BPW Club for its scholarship fund.

Since an identification card is a must for the program, the community is asked to please call Helen White, finance chairman, at 697-9692, or any BPW member for a card.

In the music of the western world, the instrument most associated with religious music is probably the organ. Many churches have organs and much church music is written to be played by an organ. In a way, churches are a perfect vehicle for organs. They usually have high roofs that are necessary not only for the actual construction and set up but also for the sound to reverberate. A full size church organ is not an instrument to be played in a small room with a low ceiling, nor should it be a careless purchase by your church. Costs of fine church organs can range to many tens of thousands of dollars.

If you are a member of your church's organ committee come by DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484 and let us show you our fine selection of quality instruments. Together we will choose the right organ for your church's needs as well as the budget of the congregation. Master Charge and Visa honored.

HANDY HINT:
Define your need — Organs are available with many or few functions and made in many sizes.

Belleville, Romulus couples to wed

JOSEPH-RYZNAR

The engagement of their daughter, Linda Ann Joseph, to John Steven Ryznar is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Joseph of 15885 Huron River Dr., Romulus.

St. Aloysius Catholic Church will be the setting, but as yet no date has been chosen for the wedding.

The bride-elect, a 1978 graduate of Aquinas High School in Southgate, is currently in her freshman year at Detroit College of Business in Dearborn where she is majoring in accounting.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryznar of 12394 Wahrman, Romulus, is a 1977 Romulus High School alumnus. He is employed as an iron worker apprentice for Local 25 in Detroit.

MISS DROTAR

DROTAR-TOWNSEND

A wedding in May has been set by Cynthia Drotar and her fiancé, Jerry Townsend.

The young couple, 1977 graduates of Belleville High School, have a May 5 altar date at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

The bride-to-be, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve J. Drotar of Savage Road, Belleville, is currently working at Woodstone Inn of Belleville.

The prospective bridegroom, an employee of Michigan School Bus Service in Belleville, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Townsend of Robbe Road, Belleville.

Senior citizens incognito

While on assignment to the Van Buren Township Hall, our photographer, Tom Greenwood, chanced upon this group having a spooky old time in the township recreation center. Who are they, you might ask. But if you look closely you'll see that the incognito crowd includes many a familiar face (even behind those masks). 'Twas the September Days Senior Citizen Club in full regalia for its first annual Halloween party. We're sorry that there were just too many to identify on an individual basis.

Choose 'something different' for upcoming holiday dessert

Checking through my files for possible Thanksgiving theme recipes, I came up with very little (here at the office.) But then I resorted to my own shoebox file at home and discovered several recipes that'd been part of my Cook of the Week series a few years back. If you're in the mood to deviate from your routine pumpkin or mince pies, you just might find something different in the following recipes.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

1 can canned pumpkin
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 tsp. ginger
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. cold water
1/2 cup sugar

3 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 Tblsp. melted butter
1 Tblsp. plain gelatin
1/2 tsp. salt

Cook pumpkin in boiler for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Mix egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar and milk. Add to pumpkin with salt, spices and melted butter. Stir and cook until custard-like. Remove from heat, add gelatin which has been softened in cold water. Stir until dissolved. Chill. When mixture begins to stiffen, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which 1/2 cup sugar has been added. Pour into baked 9-inch pie shell. Chill 3 hours or may be made a day before serving.

—from Phyllis Gray

MINCE WHIP PIE

1 pkg. Whip 'n Chill vanilla dessert mix
1/2 cup cold milk
One-third cup cold water
1/2 cup cold sour cream
1 cup moist mincemeat
1 unbaked 9-inch crumb crust OR
1 9-inch baked crust

Combine dessert mix and milk. Blend thoroughly. Whip at highest speed of electric mixer for 1 minute; mixture will be very thick. Blend in water and sour cream. Whip at high speed about 2 minutes. If necessary, whip until mixture will mound — about 10 minutes. Fold in mincemeat. Spoon into crust; chill 2 hours or more. Top with whipped cream if desired.

—from Leona Van Buhler

PECAN APPLE PIE

1 double crust recipe
6 cups sliced, pared, tart apples
4 Tblsp. flour
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1/2 tsp. mace
1/4 tsp. salt
6 Tblsp. butter
2 Tblsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 Tblsp. cream
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Make your favorite piecrust recipe. Combine sliced apples with flour, sugar, mace and salt. Put this mixture into pastry shell. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter and sprinkle with lemon juice. Cover pie with top crust. Bake at 400 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Stir in brown sugar and cream. Heat slowly to boiling. Remove from heat and add pecans. Spread mixture over top of pie. Put back in oven for 5 minutes longer till topping bubbles. Cool before cutting.

—from Madeleine Muse

PRALINE PUMPKIN PIE

2 pints butter pecan ice cream
1 cup pumpkin
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pumpkin pie spice
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup whipping cream
2 Tblsp. brown sugar
2 Tblsp. butter
1/4 cup chopped pecans

Spoon 1 pint ice cream in bottom of 9-inch pie plate; place spoonfuls in petal fashion around edge to make shell. Freeze. Mix pumpkin, brown sugar, salt, spice, vanilla. Measure 1 tablespoon cream into a small pan and set aside. Beat remaining cream until stiff and fold into pumpkin mixture. Spoon into shell; freeze. Combine 2 tablespoons brown sugar and butter with cream in pan; heat to boiling and cook 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in pecans; cool to lukewarm. Spoon pecan mixture in a ring on top of pie. Freeze 3 hours or until firm. So that pie will cut neatly, remove from freezer and let stand at room temperature for 15 minutes before serving.

Early deadline

Due to the upcoming holiday which pre-empts our regular work day, a new deadline for Thanksgiving week is being announced.

All news for the Suburban Living pages, usually scheduled for Thursday at 2 p.m., will be moved up one day — to Wednesday, Nov. 22, at 2 p.m.

Your cooperation in getting news items in at the earlier time will result in seeing your stories in print the following week.

Women living alone

All women sometime in their life may be alone, and if they are widows or divorcees their financial picture may not be promising.

Families headed by widows without a job show an average decrease in income of 44 percent. Only 14 percent of divorcees receive alimony and child support, said Marion Prince, Wastewaw County Extension home economist, and only half of the divorcees who get alimony and child support receive payments on a regular basis.

"At 50, if a woman's husband dies she may fall between the cracks of the system," Prince pointed out.

A 1970 congressional study showed that widows are left with small amounts of life insurance—usually not enough for a woman to live on for the rest of her life or support a family. A woman on her own faces one absolute imperative—coming to grips with the amount of money she has before she decides if outside employment is needed.

Decisions about spending the money you have will be reflections of your values based on the goals you set for yourself," Prince said. "Professional help may be useful for those who have to make complex decisions such as selling a home, making money last to cover fixed expenses, and finding a job.

"Labor force participation rates of women have been climbing—a plus for women who have worked in the home and are scared of seeking work. You don't need to feel defensive about seeking work because you are not an oddity; you're average."

"Many women also feel defensive about job hunting because they don't think they have job skills," she added.

"The organizing, decision making, and other skills gained in the home and perhaps is volunteer work fit requirements of many jobs. Maintaining a home and job may end up presenting difficulties, but if women lower their standards a little, the problems are not impossible to solve.

Santa, helpers ready for annual Thanksgiving parade

The J. L. Hudson Company's Santa Parade, always held on Thanksgiving Day, officially marks the beginning of the Christmas season for many residents.

The 1978 parade will be the 52nd sponsored by Hudson's. The first parade was staged in 1924, however, there were interruptions in 1941 and 1942 because of a shortage of materials at the start of World War II.

This year, more than 2,000 people will march in the parade. Another 300 work behind the scenes on repair and preparation of floats and other chores.

Employees begin setting up the parade at Hudson's Fort Street Display Studio at 3:30 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day. At 4 a.m., a Detroit Police escort arrives to take the floats down to the parade starting point at Woodward Avenue and Putnam.

Marchers arrive later in the morning to be costumed, made-up and receive last-minute directions. There is no dress rehearsal. The parade itself is the first and only run through.

Hudson's first parade consisted of horse-drawn lumber and milk wagons, covered with paper mache and other decorative materials. About 150 employees participated in the event, which boasted 10 to 12 floats.

Because of a runaway horse team during one of the early parades, manpower was used for many years, with some 24 persons pulling a single float. Cold weather caused another problem when metal-rimmed wheels froze to the street surface. This led to the use of mechanical floats. Hudson's 1978 floats are pulled by tractors.

Limitation on size and weight of floats pulled by horse and manpower also hastened the use of motorized units. Early floats averaged 15 feet in length and seven feet in height. Today, floats are as big as 30 feet wide and 120 feet long. Until four years ago, float height was limited to 16 feet because of utility crosswires. Now, a manual device inside the floats allows the operator control so that parts of the float can ease under the wires and then rise as high as 40 feet.

Parade floats are built entirely by a crew of five full-time Hudson's employees working year-round. These personnel scale, construct, and finish each unit, using a variety of skills such as carpentry, welding, and designing. A sixth employee oversees parade costumes.

Oil base paint is used with wood and metal foundation material in the float construction. The forms are made with a material called "Celastic", which is a fabric impregnated with a synthetic resin which becomes ceramic-like after being dipped in an activating agent. Celastic is the same material used in shoes and in patching cars and boats.

Each year, Hudson's parade floats are either completely remodeled or reconstructed as a new float for the next parade. Annually, a special float, designed by a Detroit elementary school student, is made.

Music for the parade is provided by high school and community marching bands from various areas in the city, state, and country. The bands are selected by size, dress, versatility, and musical repertory.

This year, there are 20 floats, 14 bands and some 2,000 marchers covering the 2½-mile route south on Woodward Avenue past Hudson's to Fort Street.

Studio stages comedy

"Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead", by Tom Stoppard, will open Nov. 24 at 8:30 p.m. in Wayne State University's Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberry. It will run at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 25 and the following week, Wednesday through Saturday, November 29-December 2, with a Sunday performance (Nov.) 26 at 7:30 p.m. For this play Stoppard has taken two of Shakespeare's minor characters — Hamlet's school friends Rosencrantz and Guildenstern — and has elevated them to the center of action, while Hamlet, Ophelia, Claudius and Polonius take the secondary roles. The London Observer's Ronald Dryden called this play "the most brilliant dramatic debut of the '60s."

"Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" was produced at Wayne State University at the Hilberry Theatre in the summer of 1971, and was held over by popular demand for the 1971-72 season. Cast in leading roles in the Studio production are Gary Righettini as Rosencrantz, Paul Prappas as Guildenstern, Dan Beppard as the Player, Chuck Sock as Hamlet and Elizabeth R.T. Hall as Ophelia. Tickets and information for "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" are available from the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office at 577-2972 for reservations.

UNFOUNDED Fears

Some people are so afraid of finding out they have cataracts, they don't go to have their eyes checked by eye-care specialists who can help them.

This can lead to needless blindness. Over 6,300 persons in the United States lose their sight to cataracts every year, yet this condition is curable in most cases. Cataract extraction is one of the most successful operations performed today.

Throughout its 70-year history, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has worked toward eliminating needless loss of sight.

'Season' opens at MB

Five New York actors comprise the cast for the Meadow Brook Theatre's current production of "That Championship Season", which opened Nov. 9 for a 4-week run on the campus of Oakland University.

Jason Miller's triple award-winning comedy-drama tells the story of four former basketball players and their annual reunion with their old coach to celebrate the state championship they won 20 years ago. During the course of their evening together the four victorious, but now defeat-ridden, old teammates drunkenly celebrate and turn to their coach who rallies the team together by summing up their old will to win. He appeals to their sense of nostalgia and infects them, as he always has, with his own shopworn, corrupt and unethical guides to success.

Joseph Warren has returned to Meadow Brook to play the Coach. Warren was enthusiastically acclaimed for his portrayal of Ben in the Meadow Brook production of "The Little Foxes".

"That Championship

Season" is under the direction of John Ulmer and will feature a set by Douglas Wright, costumes by Mary Lynn Bonnell and lights by Scotty Brown.

Performances are scheduled for 8:30 P.M. Tuesday through Friday, 6 and 9:30 p.m. Saturday, 6:30 p.m. Sundays and 2 p.m. Wednesday. The theatre is dark on Mondays.

"That Championship

Season" will run through Dec. 3. Tickets for all Meadow Brook Theatre performances may be purchased by calling 377-3300, the theatre box office.
